Love Triangle Triple Tragedy In New York

Husband Shoots Wife, Another Man and Self, In Apartment

WOMAN'S MOTHER PHONE WITNESS

NEW YORK, March 10.—(INS)—A woman's death screams, followed by six shots, made a Los Angeles mother an aural witness to a New York double murder and suicide that climaxed a love triangle showdown last night.

Dead in the tragedy are Mrs. Norma Holt, 30, her husband Emory, 35, and David Whittaker, also 35-years-old.

Police said Holt killed his wife and Whittaker in the latter's fashionable New York apartment and then took his own life.

Witness Over Phone
Police also said that the only living witness to the tragedy—and that by long distance telephone—was Mrs. Elsie Thomas of Hollywood, Calif., the dead woman's mother.

Holt, a chief engineer for the United Fruit Lines, took his wife to see Whittaker, whom he accused of stealing her affections.

Both Mrs. Holt and Whittaker were employed by the Universal Camera Co., the woman as secretary to President Otto Githens and Whittaker as Githens' assistant.

After several minutes of discussion Holt put through a Transcontinental telephone call to his wife's mother.

Calls Mother On Phone
Mrs. Thomas said Holt told her: "I'm sorry, mother, for what I'm about to do."

"I'm going to kill Norma and her sweetheart. And I'm going to finish it off by killing myself."
She attempted desperately to change her son-in-law's mind and pleaded with him while she heard the sound of loud voices in the background.

Then she heard her daughter beg for mercy and scream before Holt fired the fatal bullets.
Holt had apparently left the hook off the phone deliberately.

The frantic, nearly hysterical woman put through a call to Githens' wife in New York, who in turn called police.

May Reveal Pact Text Before Formal Signing

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 10.—North Atlantic Alliance envoys have decided today that outside powers who have not shown interest in the pact thus far will have to accept the final draft as it is if they join in the formal signing.

This would appear to eliminate all the eligible nations excepting Denmark. Those which may receive invitations later are Portugal, Ireland and Iceland. Ireland already has made clear that it will not participate because of continued partition of the Emerald Isle.

May Get Under Wire
Denmark may get in under the wire due to the efforts of its Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen. He will arrive in New York late today and proceed to Washington for consultation with Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Tank Battle Is Reported

Clash Between Israeli and Arab Legion Forces In Progress

(BULLETIN)
LONDON, March 10.—(INS)—Trans-Jordan dispatched reported today that Israeli armored units have advanced five miles into Trans-Jordan territory but the reports were denied categorically in Tel Aviv.

There was a possibility the reports may have resulted from a misunderstanding or a faulty reading of maps.

By THOMAS C. WATSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, March 10.—Trans-Jordan dispatches reported today a bitter tank battle between Israeli and Arab Legion forces in the eastern Negev, and claimed that Israeli armor and artillery penetrated five miles of Trans-Jordan territory.

The Trans-Jordanian defense minister in Amman claimed that Arab Legionnaires repulsed a Zionist force at Gharadiah, 30 miles north of the Red Sea port of Aqaba, base of 1,000 British troops, but that fighting was still going on in the area.

The ministry also said that an Israeli armored brigade, equipped with heavy tanks, 75 millimeter guns and heavily-armored vehicles, had knifed through five miles of Trans-Jordan territory and entered the El Risha plain.

Reliable sources in Amman asserted that another Israeli column had moved swiftly through the eastern Negev and gained a foothold on the Red Sea, close by Aqaba.

Clark said that there were four counts in the indictment.

The indictment charged that Miss Coplon "with intent and reason to believe that they would be used to the injury of the United States to the advantage of the foreign nation" attempted to deliver documents "relating to the national defense" to Gubitchev.

Hoover Presents Eleventh Report Of Commission

Reorganization Of Treasury Department Is Recommended By Commission

DECLARE METHODS ARE NOW OBSOLETE

By FELIX COTTEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The Hoover commission recommended today that major government lending and bank deposit guarantee activities be placed under the supervision of the secretary of the treasury.

The proposal, made in the group's eleventh report to Congress on government reorganization, would require transfer to the Treasury department of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the Export-Import Bank and the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

Remove From Patronage

Removal from political patronage of collectors of internal revenue and of customs, and certain other officials, also was proposed. Political appointment of these officials, the group said, is "one of the chief handicaps to effective organization of the department," even though the appointments "are regarded by some as sinecures."

The commission, headed by former President Hoover, declared that all officials below the rank of assistant secretary should be appointed "from the career service without Senate confirmation."

Reorganize Department

It said it is "imperative that the Treasury department should be thoroughly reorganized," and added: "Its organization and methods have become obsolete. Some of its functions are not germane to its major purpose."

Orderly rearrangement of the treasury's functions, the commission declared, would result in "substantial savings." It proposed that activities be grouped according to major purposes. The commission explained that a union of revenue operations would "eliminate considerable overhead and several duplicating administrative and field services," and that modernization of existing accounting and statistical methods "would also effect large savings."

Real Fiscal Center

It said that, to fulfill "its historic role," the treasury should be made "the real fiscal center of the government." The group proposed (Continued on Page Two)

Showdown On Filibuster May Develop Today

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 10.—A crucial showdown in the senate filibuster fight neared today with Majority Leader Lucas scheduled to file a petition for a gag vote.

Lucas announced after the second night session that he will present the petition today and that he believes Vice President Barkley, the presiding officer, will rule on it immediately.

It was possible that the actual vote on shutting off the 10-day-old southern filibuster against a tighter gag rule could come today but Lucas believed it would be taken Saturday.

May Allow Appeal Debate

If Barkley, as expected, rules that two-thirds of the senators can limit debate on any motion, the southern Democrats can appeal from his ruling. Indications are that the leadership would allow the appeal to be debated until Saturday and then a vote taken. Thirty-three senators, 16 of them (Continued on Page Two)

Youngstown Pair Held As Bandits In B.&O. Train Holdup

Two Gunmen In Holdup Captured After Gun-Battle in Washington

One Of Pair Badly Wounded During Encounter With Washington Police

By JAMES LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Two gunmen who robbed a crack Baltimore and Ohio train in West Virginia last night were captured today a few blocks from the White House after a gun battle in which one of the bandits was shot.

Washington Police Chief Robert Barrett said the pair gave their names as Luman Ramsdell, 23, and George Llewellyn Ashton, 21, both of Youngstown, Ohio.

Ramsdell was shot during a wild exchange of fire with a policeman in a Pennsylvania Ave. pawn shop. He was taken to Gallinger hospital where his condition was described as "serious."

Ashton was captured after police wrested his gun away from him. Admit Train Robbery

Barrett said the men readily admitted they had engineered the "Jesse James" robbery of the Baltimore-Detroit Express, "The Ambassador," a mile and a half from Martinsburg, W. Va.

The police chief added that loot amounting to more than $700 taken from train passengers and crewmen and from patrons of a West Virginia night club held up by the gunmen after the train robbery has been recovered.

Washington police were informed that the two were headed for the Capital on a Greyhound bus after they talked their way out of arrest at Leesburg, Va.

Leesburg police, who at the time had not received descriptions of the train robbers, detained the pair briefly because they "looked disheveled." However, the Leesburg officers accepted the men's explanation that they had "been an accident" and permitted them to board a Washington-bound bus.

Shortly afterward, Leesburg authorities heard a police radio description of Ramsdell and Ashton and immediately notified Washington.

A cordon of officers surrounded the bus station in the Capital but the bandits, apparently expecting this maneuver, left the bus about 10 blocks away from the depot.

Heavily-armed patrols were rushed to the area and the two were quickly spotted in a Pennsylvania avenue pawnshop, four blocks west of the White House.

Officer Elwood Lomax entered the shop with his gun drawn and ordered the two to surrender.

Instead of obeying, Ramsdell drew a .45-calibre gun, but Lomax (Continued on Page Two)

Passengers Of B&O Train Are Holdup Victims

Bandits Rob Crew Members Also In Sensational Holdup In West Virginia

LIBERTY OF HOLDUP PAIR SHORT-LIVED (BULLETIN)

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., March 10.—(INS)—A three-state police search, for two Jesse James-style bandits who terrorized and robbed the passengers and crew of a B. & O. express train and the patrons of a night club near Martinsburg, W. Va., ended with capture of the pair in Washington, D. C., today.

The bandits, both in their early twenties, last night invaded three cars of the Baltimore-to-Detroit "Ambassador," firing warning shots, slapping victims and slugging crewmen. One of the crewmen was wounded by a ricocheting bullet.

Bloodhounds from the penal farm at Front Royal, Va. were put on the trail which led to a coal car on a Pennsylvania Railroad siding.

This caused authorities to theorize that the bandits may have jumped aboard a passing freight train. The scent had been picked up from their own luggage, abandoned near the second car the men had stolen during their crime wave.

Flee With $1,000

The two men, who stopped the train by pulling the emergency cord, fled with more than $1,000 in cash and valuables taken from 40 passengers, and then cowed 25 patrons of the nearby Clover Rail night club. They had forced the traincrew to stop the train at the Warm Springs road crossing.

In the night club, they compelled the patrons to lie on the floor, and fired several warning shots before taking $200 from the guests.

Road blocks were set up in the West Virginia-Virginia-Maryland area in an effort to trap the bandits.

Youngstown Wallet Dropped

Police found a wallet dropped in the night club, containing the name of a Youngstown, O. man. The wallet was not believed to have been among the loot stolen from the train passengers.

A waitress in the night club said that she had danced recently with the second bandit.

In the two-pronged foray by the bandits, Charles O'Roke, of Martinsburg, from whom they commandeered his car, was gun-whipped between the eyes by one of the robbers.

Police officials hoped that the (Continued on Page Two)

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was stunning in a gown of ice blue satin, colonial style, fashioned with a hoop skirt, an off the shoulder yoke filled with lace, tight fitting waist and long pointed sleeves. The beauty of the gown was further enhanced by the continuous smocking on the skirt. Her circular fingertip veil fell from a modified poke bonnet and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Wilbur Johnston, of Columbus, O., was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses JoAnn Zimfer and Peggie Campbell, of Sidney. Sens. Fred P. Hare, Jr., (R) Somerset, James A. Geltz (R) Allegheny, and Charles R. Mallory (R) Blair, introduced the measure to boost the governor's salary to $30,000, but the state government committee pared it to the lower figure "in keeping with what other governors are getting."

left Martinsburg. The engineer, C. C. Moore, got out of the cab and went back to investigate the cause. When he did not return, Mort stated that he went back to see what had happened to the engineer and also to help investigate the cause of the sudden, emergency stop.

"I walked the entire length of the train, and when I could not find Moore, I started back to the locomotive again. As I neared it, my light picked up two of the bandits, who had the engineer and fireman under their guns. They put their guns on me. They were .45 calibre automatics and looked plenty convincing," Mort stated.

Poked With Guns
"I was placed alongside the engineer and fireman, and the men kept poking us in the back with the guns, with instructions not to move. We did not know but what it might be our last minute, especially when we heard the shots which were fired on the train.

"We were made to get back into the locomotive and instructed to proceed to a certain crossing nearby. We passed the crossing and Engineer Moore was forced to back up the train until it arrived at the desired spot."

Mort described the bandits as being young men, around 25 years of age, and nice looking.

"I have never seen anyone under the influence of marijuana, but the two seemed to be hopped up with something," Mort stated.

After the robbery, the train went back to Cumberland, and the crew was taken off to be interrogated. As soon as the alarm had been spread, every agency rushed to the scene. Mort stated, city and state police being joined by the sheriff and his deputies, and FBI men also were rushed to the scene. "They had everything out at Martinsburg in a short time," Mort stated, "and this morning were putting bloodhounds on the trail."

SUPREME SOVIET NOW IN SESSION

Two thousand deputies including 200 women from the Soviet Union's 16 republics were on hand for the session.

PASSENGERS OF B. & O. TRAIN ARE HOLDUP VICTIMS

emulators of the James brothers might still be in the vicinity and expressed belief their bravado is fast disappearing.

The total loot from last night's efforts—ranging from $1 from two passengers, to $300 from the dining car steward—could only be estimated until B. & O. officials could check on all of the 40-odd passengers in the robbed cars, a coach, the diner and Pullman lounge.

Police believe the bandits' coolness and precision indicated a knowledge of railroad operations and crafty planning of the robbery.

Passengers said the men were similar in appearance, and the fact that one addressed the other as "brother" led to speculation that they might be brothers. One was heard to address the other as "Jack."

Police gave this story of the daring robbery:

Tickets To Youngstown

The two bandits boarded the train in Washington, bearing tickets from Miami, Fla., to Youngstown, O.

Conductor R. L. Hosmer of Relay, Md., was investigating a charge that a soldier, Pvt. George B. Frankford of Detroit, had been robbed of $75. He was met in the vestibule of a coach connected to the diner by the two bandits. They commanded him to pull the emergency cord stopping the train.

While one bandit threatened Hosmer with a pistol the other went through the coach and emptied the pockets of 19 passengers, taking sums ranging from $1 to $140.

They slayed William E. Swan, a B&O waiter riding as a passenger to Connellsville, Pa., because he had only one dollar. Witnesses said a woman was slapped too, who she said she had no money at all, but that the bandit later returned and apologized to her before leaving the car.

One bandit, described as about 22 years old, five-foot-eight and 138 pounds, fired a warning shot through a door in the lounge car, the bullet ricocheting and wounding Chief Walter Epp in his right leg. The car's steward unlocked the door and with the car's passengers gave up their money to the bandits. The steward alone yielding $300, he told police.

New Castle Man In Crew

Engineer C. C. Moore, of Brunswick, Md., and Robert Mort, mechanic of New Castle, Pa., came back to investigate the emergency stop, and also were held at bay by the gunman.

When his ally had completed ransacking the coach, the bandits slugged Hosmer and forced the engine crewmen to leave the train with them at Warm Springs crossing, three miles west of Martinsburg.

As the bandits left the train, with Fireman Purdie as a hostage, they accosted Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Roke of Martinsburg, who had stopped their car beside the track, forced them out and took the auto.

O'Roke, leading the train crewmen to the nearest telephone, at the Clover Rail club, found his car already there with one bandit still at the wheel and the other inside the night club.

Rob Patrons Of Club

Police were told the 25 patrons of the club were ordered to lie flat on the floor—with four shots from the bandit's pistol punctuating the order—and to yield about $200 in all.

Meanwhile O'Roke, attempting to sneak up on the bandit in his car, was slugged by the second gunman emerging from the Clover Rail. The bandits now abandoned O'Roke's car in favor of a second—a 1949 Buick, which they discarded two miles from the scene.

Before leaving the scene they stopped to lift $100 from fireman Purdie.

The Ambassador, delayed an hour and 35 minutes by the bandits, proceeded to Cumberland, Md., where the crew was removed and returned to Martinsburg for interrogation.

Leaders in the filibuster struggle battled for the votes of a half-dozen reportedly undecided Republican senators who may control the outcome to the gage-rule fight.

As the vital test neared, however, advocates of the tighter gag rule were more optimistic than they had been for the past week.

Helmick emphasized that the flood situation now prevalent in the mid-west is a good example of how the Red Cross is needed so often to relieve disaster. Money already contributed to the Red Cross in previous campaigns, is now being utilized to relieve suffering and prevent disease.

James Mullen rushed to Whittaker's apartment and entered by passkey.

Find Three Dead

They found Mrs. Holt lying on a sofa, a bullet in her chest and another behind her left ear. Whittaker's body was upright on the sofa beside her, with a bullet wound in his right temple.

Holt's body was slumped in an easy chair across the room, with a bullet in his chest.

On the floor not far from his hand was a German Luger pistol.

Employees at Whittaker's swank apartment house said he arrived home alone at 8:15 last night. The Holts called on him a half hour later.

Neighbors reported no loud noises from the apartment until the shots rang out at approximately 9:30 leading police to theorize that Whittaker did not know of Holt's plans until he telephoned his wife's mother.

Note Is Found

Police found a suicide note left by Holt in the couple's four-room apartment in the fashionable Brooklyn Heights section.

They also found a letter of recrimination left by his wife in which she chided him for "failing to meet the situation face to face."

Holt's note, which was dated yesterday, was addressed "Mama (Mrs. Thomas) and Jane." It read: "In the event of my death cremate me and scatter my ashes on the Hudson so they can be carried out to sea. If this is not done, I care not what happens, although I want to be cremated for the benefit of all those concerned (very simple and inexpensive)."

His wife's note dated March 9 read in part:

"Well, I'm certain you did not go and demand you should for you're too curious. It all goes to prove that you refuse to meet the situation face to face. So thanks for the slap and don't forget you shall pay for that."

On the last sheet of her four page note Mrs. Holt scrawled a big "N-U-T-S."

posed 10 reforms to carry out this aim and shift non-fiscal activities out of the department.

This would include transfer of the Coast Guard to the Commerce department, previously recommended, and the Bureau of Narcotics to the Justice department.

Some of the commissioners objected to placing the RFC, the FDIC, and the Export-Import Bank in the treasury. But a majority of the 12-man group argued that they are now actually accountable to nobody.

This results, they said, from the fact that they report only to the President, who lacks time to supervise them.

envoys already engaged in drafting the final terms of the agreement. They are the representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Norway.

Seek To Make Pact Clear

In an effort to clear up misunderstanding of the pact, Acheson has indicated that an intensive campaign of selling it to the American people and congress may be instituted.

As a result of this decision, it is likely that the text will be made public at least two weeks before the foreign ministers convene to sign it formally. This is planned at present to take place during the first week of April.

Ashton then surrendered without a struggle. Ramsdell was rushed to Gallingier hospital, where physicians said his condition is serious.

Ashton was dressed in "zoot-suit" clothing. He wore a blue sharkskin double-breasted suit, a white shirt open at the neck, and brown suede shoes. His long, oily black hair was combed straight back.

He attempted a show of nonchalance as Barrett questioned him, but appeared exhausted. Police said Ashton showed little concern for his partner's fate.

Police quoted Ashton as saying that the two boarded the Ambassador in Washington last night after coming to the capital from Florida.

Ashton also told detectives that after abandoning a stolen "getaway

Report Judge To Withdraw From Income Tax Case

WHEELING, W. Va., March 10. —(INS)—United States District Judge William E. Baker was reported today ready to withdraw from the William G. Lias income tax evasion case.

Judge Baker was quoted yesterday as saying he would excuse himself from further hearings on the matter.

Meanwhile, District Attorney C. Lee Spillers indicated that he would continue his prosecution of Lias for allegedly evading paying income taxes from 1942 to 1946.

Judge Baker's action is permitting Lias to withdraw a previous guilty plea to one of a five-count charge, thus voiding a five-year prison sentence, was upheld last Tuesday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va.

Missing Locket Back In Museum

PHILADELPHIA, March 10. —(INS)—A sixteenth century locket which disappeared mysteriously from the Philadelphia Museum of Art 10 days ago has mysteriously re-appeared.

The locket was returned to the museum yesterday by mail. It was nestled in a book—"Labor and the Law"—from which several pages had been torn to make the locket fit neatly.

Eight cents postage was due on the package, which bore a Philadelphia postmark but no return address.

The locket consisted of a wax portrait of a woman, framed in a gilded copper case.

When the locket was stolen, Museum Director Fiske Kimball declared:

"Why make a fuss over something that's only worth five dollars?"

But when the "trinket" was returned yesterday, Museum Superintendent George Barbour described it as an exceptionally rare item "worth a million to the museum."

Other sources said it had a valuation of from $25,000 to $100,000.

Cuba Tells Russia To End Propaganda

HAVANA, March 10.—(INS)—Cuba served blunt notice on Russia to cease its "aggressive and sinister" propaganda in Cuba, and hinted that activities of the Soviet legation may be curtailed.

The Cuban government made its position known in two stern notes delivered to the legation last night. One protested to the legation's dissemination, through bulletins and newspapers, of harmful propaganda.

The other rejected a Soviet protest over the sale of masks resembling Stalin to be worn during the Cuban carnival season. This note stated that the government had no intention of banning the masks, the sale of which in no way violated Cuban laws.

Wounded Man Says That Wife Shot Him

TURTLE CREEK, Pa., March 10.—(INS)—Police today were investigating the statement of a Turtle Creek man suffering a gunshot wound who reportedly said his wife shot him.

Police said that Harry Reid, 39, was in a serious condition. He had stopped a passerby and asked to be taken to the hospital.

Verner Smeltz, of nearby Rose Grove Park, said Reid told him it was his wife "who shot me."

Police said that Mrs. Reid, mother of four children, was too hysterical to make a statement.

A GIANT MOUSE
If all of the mice in our town were put together and made into one it would be a pretty big mouse.

It sure could make a big squeak. It could not do any more damage than mice are doing all the time.

Mother Eve got into trouble with a serpent. Ever since that time women have been "against" snakes. She might have had some trouble with a mouse too for women are scared of mice for sure.

If all of our buildings were mouse proof, the mice would go away from here.

Mom is a good housekeeper. She doesn't want any mice around. She makes Dad fill up all the chinks in the cellar wall. She knows that those little sharp eyes are watching for a chance to get into her house.

Talk about a cold war. If Mom sees any sign of a mouse she doesn't wait for any preliminaries. Hostilities begin and continue till enemy mouse is vanquished.

Preparing For Operation On British King

LONDON, March 10.—(INS)—The Buckingham palace room in which Princess Elizabeth's son was born was reported undergoing transformation into a surgery ward today for King George's forthcoming operation.

The London Daily Mirror said that the chamber—known as the "Buhl room"—has been equipped with special hospital-type bed on wheels. An adjoining room, the newspaper said, has been prepared for use by the king's surgeons, while a third palace room is being readied as quarters for one of the royal physicians who is expected to move in this week.

The operation, described as a lumbar sympathectomy, aimed at increasing the circulation in the king's right foot, is expected to be performed some time next week.

A palace announcement said that the operation is not a serious one, and is not indicative of a worsening in the monarch's condition.

The king is suffering from an obstruction of circulation to his limbs, and has been undergoing massage and electrical therapy.

Books Forum To Meet March 22

The next Great Books Forum will be on Tuesday March 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the public library. The subject will be "The Confessions Of St. Augustine" and the discussion leader will be Herman Green.

The library has a few copies which may be borrowed, or a copy may be bought by anyone who wishes to own the book.

The last session was a rousing discussion of "Thucydides' Peloponnesian War." So many parallels were found between this war of twenty-five centuries ago that Robert Lesniak the leader frequently had to drag back the roving discussion to its proper field.

The Forum is sponsored by the public library and is open to everyone.

Nearly 4,500,000 tons of heavy structural steel shapes were turned out by the steel industry last year. Of this number, more than 1,600,000 tons were used by the building and construction industry. Most of this was fabricated of low carbon steel.

VICTIMIZING THE LONELY

Wherever people are in trouble, there are chiselers seeking to exploit their misery. That is why "lonely hearts" groups, many of them rackets, have sprung up all over the country, even leading in one recent case to heartless murder.

There really are lonely men and women lacking the skill or the self-confidence to find a suitable mate. Many of them are neurotic and bad marriage risks. Some of them would make good husbands and wives. Since there is no organized qualified group to which most of them can turn, they tend to become easy prey for a predatory fringe of bogus do-gooders.

In London (where the problem is worse because women greatly outnumber men) two scientists have tackled the problem by starting a Marriage Society. For a fee of $40 they introduce people who are suited to each other in the light of present scientific knowledge and personality evaluation.

The society, it is reported, is a success. In two years it has been responsible for 50 marriages and no divorces. That isn't many, but 50 happy marriages nowadays are an achievement to be proud of. The experiment will be worth watching.

Perhaps in time the federal government in this country will take over matchmaking. That would be a short step after the social security, insured, socialized medicine, job security, income guaranteed state has been achieved.

THE LOST ROCKET

This is an age of wonders and portents, among other things. The first plane to circumnavigate the globe without stopping performed the trick in A. D. 1949. Perhaps ominously, it was no civilian ship but a bomber.

Transmitted energy from the intangible mass of 10 atoms has just laid a two-ton cornerstone in New York. And the Army has just lost a rocket.

More than a week ago the Army released the "Wac Corporal" from a larger V-2 rocket and sent it 250 miles above sea level. It fell to earth after probing a deeper finger into the secrets of outer space than man ever thrust before.

During the 12 minutes it was in flight, the earth was turning on its axis. The Army duly allowed for that in its calculations of where in the White Sands, N. M., proving ground the Wac Corporal would land, and it followed the flight out and back on a radar screen. But the rocket disappeared, and the Army now doubts that it will ever be found.

With instruments in its belly packed full of top-secret data concerning the unknown emptiness still outside human reach, it may lie now beyond human reach in the belly of the earth itself.

Mingled curiosity and apprehension are thus frustrated. Perhaps it is just as well. How many more secrets of the universe can man learn, and survive?

REDDER THAN HERRING

There is grim irony in the fact that the latest spy suspect, accused of turning over secret documents to the Russians, has been found inside the Department of Justice. Attorney General Tom Clark has been among the chief supporters of President Truman's charge that last year's congressional spy hunt was a "red herring" affair.

The attorney general's face today must be redder than the reddest herring as the spotlight turns on his own domain.

To Be sure, the allegations that Miss Judith Coplon took secret documents from the Justice Department's files and attempted to turn them over to a Russian engineer now employed by the UN, remain to be proved. The evidence has been laid before a federal grand jury in New York. Like any other suspect, Miss Coplon deserves the benefit of any doubt until the facts are in.

But if she does turn out to be guilty as charged, Clark may wish that he had kept his peace about herrings. Members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities assert they had information more than two years ago that something was wrong in the Justice Department office where Miss Coplon worked, and that the department refused to cooperate.

The committee is now talking about a full-scale investigation of the case. That much work remains for the committee to do there can be no doubt. That it has been inactive ever since the 81st Congress convened is unfortunate. Certainly Attorney General Clark will be in poor position to protest an inquiry into his security arrangements if it turns out that spying was going on under his own nose.

Russia has banned the teaching of the English language in German schools, declaring it to be decadent, along with Greek and Latin. It is obvious the Muscovites are not familiar with the English language as Truman uses it.

This year the graduate will hitch his wagon to a star, unless he decides to place all his dependence on the government's pension program.

In View Of News Of The World

The widely-disputed north Atlantic defense pact took positive form and shape with dispatch of a final draft to the capitals of participating nations.

And while ratification by the United States senate and the parliaments of other nations is essential before the treaty becomes law the pact as framed is intended as a watertight safeguard against aggression.

There are distinct indications that its sponsors wish to correlate it in every respect with existing United Nations undertakings as well as with other solemn international obligations entered into during the war.

The pact specifies that it in no way prejudices earlier treaty commitments. Thus it protects the treaties of mutual alliance signed by both Great Britain and France with Soviet Russia soon after the end of the conflict.

Of Great Importance

Of great importance was the choice of the Tropic of Cancer as the southern boundary of the territory and water expanses that the treaty seek to guarantee and protect.

Roughly, this imaginary line above the equator runs from the so-called "bulge" of northwest Africa in the Spanish colony of Rio de Oro due west through the straits of Florida between Key West and Cuba and then across the "waist" of Mexico to the Pacific.

The states of Central and South America lie south of this line. But they are linked with the United States in far-reaching inter-American defense agreements.

Just as in the projected north Atlantic pact, these agreements regard an attack on any signatory nation as an assault on all of them. Therefore the north Atlantic and inter-American pacts become almost automatically part and parcel of one another.

There may be a feeling in some areas of Latin America that definite stipulations should be made covering any contingencies in the eastern reaches of the south Atlantic.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GOOD RULES FOR BABY SITTERS

Year by year fewer and fewer parents drag their young children about at night. This means more and more baby sitters are needed. Moreover, fewer and fewer grandparents and aunts are available. They gradually have become more independent, many of them going out at night themselves.

So baby sitting has become quite a field for girls in their teens, even for boys, and these baby sitters often earn rather handsomely. A skilled and dependable baby sitter is in great demand. Young parents and many teen-age girls are growing interested in this budding "profession" and how to make it more nearly a profession. Therefore, courses in high school are developing for training baby sitters, also there is some good literature for such courses and for the parents themselves.

For Baby Sitters

There has just appeared "A Manual for Baby Sitters" by Marion Lowndes. The book is intended for baby sitters, those wishing to become good baby sitters, and parents who employ baby sitters. It has much to say about the personal qualities a baby sitter should have, her moral obligation to the children she cares for and to their parents; also for the parents who employ a baby sitter.

The author describes the duty of a baby sitter in six words: Keep them happy; keep them safe. Interesting Replies

When one hundred baby sitters, including girls, boys and adults, were asked what the first thing is they would want in a baby sitter if they were parents, the following replies were most often given:

Love and understanding of children.

A person who liked children. To have patience and be kind. Interest in the welfare of the children.

That she loved children enough to make them happy. To be kind and understanding.

Essentials For Baby Sitters

According to the courses in baby sitting given under the auspices of the New York City Department of Health, there are twelve good rules:

1. Before taking a "sitting" job find out how many children you are supposed to care for and the ages of each.
2. Be prompt. Be sure to arrive when you say you will. One exception—if you are coming down with a cold or illness, stay home and report the fact in good time to the mother.
3. Go adequately equipped with your own sweater, watch, pad, pencil, and flashlight.
4. Ask at once for the telephone number that will reach parents (or substitute) and doctor.
5. Get familiar with the house and equipment before the mother goes.
6. Keep constant watch of the child to make sure of his safety.
7. Guard and protect the baby from appetizing indigestible things.
8. Learn to meet and deal well with family pets.
9. Look in on a sleeping baby at least once every hour and listen for him between time.
10. Treat the child as you would like to be treated in his place.
11. Don't give medicine on your own responsibility. Deal only with the simplest cuts and injuries. Telephone the doctor when the child seems hot or acts unwell.
12. Don't be a sitter unless you like children.

ed several roles of importance in the second world war and which once vigorously resisted a British landing attempt, is far south of the Tropic of Cancer. So are numerous other good bases which might become involved in a manner menacing to the Americas in event of new conflict.

But the conflicts of Africa already have laid the groundwork for their own regional agreements. One such seeks to bind northern and southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland, looking toward an eventual union with the British East African colonies of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika.

So far as the other or northern extremity of the Atlantic pact is concerned, the North Pole obviously is the limit.

Danish Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen is arriving in Washington to discuss his country's participation. Certain to figure in the discussions are Greenland and Iceland, which have ties of different

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

This is going to be a strictly scientific column.

After all, I want to prove to that 80-year-old fan of mine in Alabama that he is all wrong.

He writes:

"I know you have a good education. Why do you use it to write so much hogwash. On the other hand, I wouldn't want to miss your daily hogwash any more than the pigs would."

Hogwash, eh?

I'll show you.

Do you know what tetraethylthiuram disulfide is used for?

Do you know the function of the osteodynamometer?

I bet you don't, Mr. Mobile, but I do.

And when I get through you'll be glad to have me write about hogwash again instead of science.

As you know, alcoholism is one of the curses of humanity and for ever so long science has tried to find a cure for it.

They think they have one now in that tetra- I mentioned above. However, since nobody would be able to order it in a drug store by that name, except perhaps Professor Einstein, who doesn't drink, they have given it a shorter name—antabus.

This potent chemical was used for vulcanizing rubber until about two years ago when it was noticed that workers in an Akron, O., rubber plant developed an intolerance of alcohol.

This, I am told, being quite unusual in rubber workers, a study was made and the use of the chemical in cases of alcoholism was developed.

However, here is the rub.

Antabus is liable to give its user exactly the same kind of hangover as the use of alcohol itself. As a matter of fact, since antabus is a scientific thing while a drink of whiskey is just a drink of whiskey, the antabus hangover is said to be even more unpleasant than the whiskey hangover.

They tell about a woman in Sweden whose husband was giving a stag party. She didn't like the idea, knowing by experience what her husband's stag parties had done to her furniture, rugs and neighbors.

So she sprinkled some of the antabus powder on the appetizers consumed before the stag party began. The results were terrible. Instead of the hangovers coming the morning after, they came the night before.

Now to the osteodynamometer. The whole world has been anxiously waiting to find out what goes on inside the shell of an oyster—the oyster being unquestionably the most close-mouthed thing in existence.

With this new instrument we will now be able to know whether the oyster is happy or not, whether she or he is in love—and what kind of noise really does annoy an oyster.

That is all about science today. Back to "hogwash" tomorrow. (Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Who said the West was wild . . . maybe it's the influence of western wearing apparel that is causing the trouble . . . or maybe someone dug out an old copy of Jessie James Rides Again . . . The incident that occurred last evening down at Martinsburg sure makes the tall story clubs look like pikers . . . Who would have thought it possible to rob a modern day railroad train . . . And then on the other hand, who would have thought of doing such a thing?

Seems that there are a few who think it easier to make a living by taking cash from people than by working . . . we know what you are thinking . . . that there are some in business who do the same thing . . . well we still like it that way. Much prefer to have been sold an item we have no use for than to have a guy come sneaking up, stick a gun in the old ribs and say, hand it over buddy.

Much rather join a pyramid club . . . at least you would get a run for your money . . . thinking about the returns that you hope to receive, but down deep know you won't, than to see the money go into another's pocket just because he held the "upper hand". Are the roaring twenties on their way back?

Maybe there have been too many radio programs telling of daring deeds . . . the lads who listen should stick around until the program is over . . . for little boldness leads to bigger boldness and then the law steps in and the penalty is paid sooner or later . . . not too pleasant. Maybe the radio shows should dramatize the catching of the criminal more . . . the death house scene for example . . . not very pleasant.

But right now we can't dwell on the subject . . . more important items demand our attention . . . for example the Girl Scout dinner of this evening at the Cathedral . . . celebrating the anniversary of the founding of this wonderful group. No Deviation In Soviet Plan

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Each time there is evidence of undue movement in the murky darkness of Soviet Russia, the outside world stirs in a flutter of speculation. The substitution of Vishinsky for Molotov once again has set off the tremors that vibrate out to the farthest corners.

To American officials who have made a study of Russian policy and Russian intentions over a considerable period of time most of the speculation seems futile if not downright foolish. They believe that on the fundamental objective of the Soviets there has not been the slightest deviation through the years.

The latest proof of the unshakable singleness of purpose in the Kremlin is a remarkable document that is being studied and re-studied for its bearing on the present. It is a long article in the Soviet magazine, "Bolshhevik," by E. Burdzhakov, who bears the impressive title of "chief, lecture group, propaganda and agitation division, all-union party central committee."

What makes the article especially significant is the evidence that Stalin takes a personal interest in every word that goes into "Bolshhevik." Therefore, what Burdzhakov says has the imprimatur of the supreme dictator himself.

Pattern Toward Revolution

What the article declares, reduced to its simplest terms, is that the communist parties of every country in the world must follow

BIBLE THOUGHT

Behold, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done this. Shall the women eat their fruit, and children of a span long? shall the priest and the prophet be slain in the sanctuary of the Lord?

Lamentations, 2:20.

The piece of furniture called the "breakfront," popular for holding books and bric-a-brac, derived its name from the fact that the center portion projects forward from the end sections, thus breaking a straight line.

Anniversary Of Telephone

By PAUL GALLICO

This is a kind of anniversary today of which I would like to remind you. Exactly 73 years ago, on March 10, 1876, the first words were spoken over the telephone. This happened, as you know, in Boston, Mass., and the inventor thereof was Mr. Alexander Graham Bell, a Scotch-born professor of vocal physiology at Boston University.

The first real telephone speech was practically a laboratory experiment, and using the instrument, Prof. Bell spoke to an assistant in another room, saying, "Mr. Watson, come here. I want you."

This was a Mr. Watson, and not Dr. Watson of Sherlock Holmes fame, for if it had, Prof. Bell's first words would naturally have been, "Elementary, my dear Watson, elementary," and Watson would naturally have replied, "Marvelous, my dear Bell!" I am trying not to confuse you.

Famous First Words

Those famous first words were not quite as dramatic as the ones transmitted by Mr. Morse at the inauguration of his telegraphic machine, namely, "What hath God wrought!" which are frequently confused with those murmured by Prof. Bell. I can understand the confusion for it would be only normal to think of the Professor as looking at the infernal machine he had just invented and perfected with considerable horror and saying in a sort of agnostic tone, "What hath God wrought?"

I love my little telephone, have for many years, but our long marriage while interesting has not been exactly ideal, and, frankly, there have been times when I have thought of divorce and what life would be like without this instrument.

Harbinger Of Varied News

It has often been the harbinger of pleasant news, a manuscript sold, a well-loved friend come to town, a lady to advise me that she is no longer angry with me; it has also given me some tough moments. I have no complaint on this score since things tend to even out, but my telephone is also an insistent shrew, a chatterbox, an apparatus of no taste or selectivity which frequently lets the most appalling establish a beachhead on my privacy, and by and large has collaborated in the wasting of a good deal of the brief span that I have here on this earth.

Many a time I have blessed it, for through its miracle of machinery and convenience it has frequently eased my nerves of tensions, it has enabled me to project my voice and thoughts to far off places where they were needed and on occasions it has provided me with short cuts.

But it is human, especially in a long marriage, to grouch at the misdeeds of one's partner and helpmeet rather than to remember and dwell upon the long record of help and service.

Really Wholly Innocent

It is also painful to face the fact that the poor little telephone is really wholly innocent and that I am the boob who is guilty of all with which I charge the speaking and hearing instrument cradled on its little black box.

For instance, ever since I have acquired the wonders of my Answering Service, I need actually never touch the thing until such time as I care to find out who has been calling me and make up my mind whether I care enough about any of them, or the business involved to call them back.

But I cannot resist its shrill insistent summons. If I am in the kitchen and it exploded in the far reaches of the study, I break all records skidding around corners and slipping on loose rugs to get to it. I MUST know who is at the other end of it. And the fact that it is usually a guy trying to arrange a sitting for twelve cabinet photographs at $150 doesn't cure me. I know no horror more intense than to reach it too late and find that the party calling has hung up. This ruins my evening and all the next day until I find out who it was.

State Police Say:

Loose brakes have caused accidents, but not nearly as many as "tight" drivers. Whether or not you indulge in the use of intoxicants is your own business, but if you drive your car after indulging it becomes the business of everyone. For then you become a menace to public safety and the life and limb of other users of the highway. If you drive, don't drink; if you drink, don't drive.

They Say

LONDON—John Dugdale, parliamentary secretary to the British admiralty: "Underwater battles of a future war are no dream. In future wars it may well be that the Atlantic may become like the Mediterranean with England taking the place of Malta."

WINTER PARK, Fla.—President Harry S. Truman: "We may not know what is behind the iron curtain, but we do know that the intelligence of the people in the embattled democracies of Europe, who live in front of the iron curtain, is the world's best hope for peace today."

WASHINGTON—Senator Arthur V. Watkins (R Utah): "We do not necessarily have to sign any pact in order to make it abundantly clear that we will fight if nations of our own kind are attacked and our security is in danger."

NEW YORK—Major Alexander F. DeSeversky, in opposing increased power for the secretary of national defense: "The military destinies of America (will) be put into the keeping of a single individual vested with almost dictatorial power."

HE WAS BORN IN 1869, the son of a noted British statesman. Entering politics early, by 1915 he had become lord mayor of Birmingham, England. He became chancellor of the exchequer in a Conservative cabinet in 1923. In 1931, he succeeded Stanley Baldwin as British prime minister. He died Nov. 9, 1940, a sadly disillusioned man because he failed to give the British people "peace in our time." Who was he? Neville Chamberlain.

His first step was to hand over to Great Britain fifty of our destroyers, although his own Attorney General first ruled the transaction illegal, canceling under pressure from the White House. Pomona Grange To Meet On Saturday

Will Have Program At Plain Grove Hall; Coen To

extra-parliamentary, revolutionary methods of struggle."

Quoting Lenin
The author quotes Lenin with approval as having said "that the revolutionary class must first master all methods of combat without any exception whatsoever, and second, must be ready for the most rapid and least expected substitution of one combat method for another." He points with pride to "the extremely rich experience the Bolshevik party accumulated in alternating and combining legal and illegal and parliamentary and extra-parliamentary forms of struggle."

That spells it out as unmistakably as anyone could ask. Those who become communists and who remain communists must inevitably submit to this extra-legal, extra-parliamentary discipline. They must follow without looking either to the right or the left in the footsteps of the master—Stalin—who reserves the right to interpret the holy writ of Marx and Lenin.

natures with Denmark, and Spitzbergen where the Russians tried without success to obtain a base.

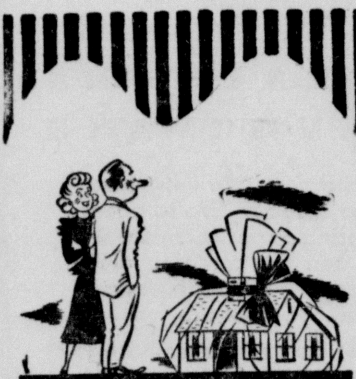

Denmark To Come In
With Norway already pledged to sign, there seems no question that Denmark will come, wholeheartedly and enthusiastically, and then the eyes of the world will turn back once again to Sweden and her stolid neutrality.

Reports persist that after the passage of six months or so, when Sweden has had ample opportunity to watch how the pact operates and to study its impact upon the whole perilous field of east-west relations, she may abandon this neutral stand and throw in her lot with the western democracies.

No one can predict whether or not the treaty is to have smooth sailing on the sea of ratification in the U. S. senate or elsewhere.

But the start appears to have been made on a firm basis and its eager sponsors on both sides of the ocean are enthusiastic over its future. Certainly it promises to play an important part indeed in forthcoming world history.

Probably the only woman in the United States who chisels inscriptions on marble monuments is Roxanne Price, 23, of Newport R. I. Roxanne uses the same method with the same kind of tools used by stonemasons 5000 years ago.

constitutional authority when without consulting Congress, he journeyed to Canada and announced a military alliance with the Dominion.

Unwarranted Authority

In the various conferences with Britain and Russia, Mr. Roosevelt also assumed unwarranted authority in making post-war arrangements by personal and secret negotiations and by accepting conditions in complete disregard of the Senate—conditions which the Soviets regard as binding and which still haunt us in our world relations. These transactions were carried on by subterfuge, on the plea that they were not "treaties" in the constitutional sense, but mere "executive agreements."

It is thought that Secretary

Acheson's statement that the proposed European pact is legally treaties, subject to the "advice and consent of the Senate" correctly represents the view of his superior. We cannot afford to hazard more international troubles by executive assumption of unconstitutional prerogatives. Congress still has the final word.

The climate of the Aleutian islands, in the north Pacific, is moderate and fairly uniform, with heavy rainfall and almost constant fog. Summers are cooler than on the mainland of Alaska, but winter temperatures are very nearly the same.

Sweden In Strongest Economic Position In Europe At Present

By GEORGE DURNO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

STOCKHOLM (by air mail)—Neutral Sweden today is in perhaps the strongest economic position of any person in Europe. Unaffected by the ravages or costs of war for 135 years, the Swedes have accepted something over $40,000,000 in Marshall plan loans—not grants—so they may better serve as a contributing country in Europe's economic rehabilitation.

A visitor to Sweden is impressed by the atmosphere of self-sufficiency engendered by this situation, and by possession of timber lands, mines and other resources. This impression is further advanced when, over coffee, the Swedish minister compares his country's budget to that of the United States.

The minister notes that the United States is spending 15 billions for national defense, five billions for veterans' aid, five billions for retirement of the huge national debt and five billions for the Marshall plan—also aside from normal internal operations.

Sweden's Budget
As against this, Sweden devotes 20 per cent of its budget to the military, has no debt retirement problems and no veterans' aid. It has no budgetary allotment for outside aid, but is lending or giving 2½ billions in that cause.

The biggest item in the Swedish budget, one totaling 40 per cent, is that for social security and education.

Comparisons, it is conceded, are admittedly difficult because of the differences in size of the two countries, total populations—and differences in income levels.

The leader of the opposition enters the after-dinner discussion and says:

True in many respects, but what about Sweden's future in view of "one ghastly mistake" the Stockholm government has made?

The opposition leader is referring to the action of the labor gov-den, touching at all of the major industrial centers and towns, developed all too clearly that the value of the Kroner is the burning issue of the day—barring, of course, the international situation and what Russia will do next.

The labor government apparently decided that the United States was going boom-and-bust. Consequently, in an advance move to protect Sweden's position against such a possibility, the Kroner was made a more expensive medium of exchange.

Pulp manufacturers, steel mill owners, shipyard operators and other industrialists and business men are up in arms over the situation. They are demanding that the Kroner be put back to its true value in international exchange.

Some even suggest it should be pegged at 4.8 to the dollar.

The government is standing pat, seemingly for two reasons. One is that the Swedish Kroner couldn't be devalued without similar currency readjustments by other European countries.

The second reason is one of practical politics. The government can't afford to admit it made a mistake.

King Henry I of England was the fourth son of William the Conqueror. When he succeeded his brother, William Rufus, in 1100, he published a charter of rights which was subsequently taken as the basis of the Magna Charta.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, March 10—(INS)—Richard Widmark, an ex-newsie, is convinced that the best way to groom for an acting career is hawking papers on a windy street corner.

The actor who garnered his first buck peddling editions in front of the courthouse at Princeton, Ill., contended: "Everything a newcomer needs to know about the drama can be learned from selling papers where the customers don't like to shell out."

"It didn't take me long to catch on. When news was on the dull side I promptly fixed that up by injecting some Schmaltz into the headlines."

Good Vocal Chords
When catchy banners themselves were not enough to whet the interest of a guy with a jitney in his jeans, young Master Widmark simply found it necessary to dramatize the vocal delivery of the headlines.

The movie star is convinced that few Shakespearean troupers possess as extensive a repertoire of vocal expressions as the well-trained newsie orally proclaiming the news.

Widmark who confessed that he currently is employing such elocutionary devices in his latest flicker, "Slattery's Hurricane," explained: "The stockpile of oratorical nuances should always include a note of alarm, a soupçon of humor, a trace of bitter irony, a generous shove of compassion and a hint of lofty disdain—all staple items for the embryo actor."

Widmark, between scenes at 20th Century-Fox filmery, argued that the windy corner is a prime requisite for the newsie aiming for the thespic heights. A breezy corner, he said, adds a formidable obstacle that can be overcome only by sheer artistry.

And anyone in the audience who has ever sold papers after school can appreciate Widmark's parting remark: "When you can focus a fellow's attention on your journalistic wares at a time when errant breezes are blowing this way and that with women's skirts—well, brother, that's when you are ready for the bigtime!"

THOSE POOR COACHES
The life of a football coach is rarely a happy one—and there must be a couple dozen of pigskin mentors in the country who will see their own collegiate coaching careers brought to the screen in Fred MacMurray's new picture.

MacMurray, who never wanted to be an actor in the first place, is starting his 51st flicker as a full-fledged star. He portrays a football coach whose life is ruined by howls and disgruntled grumblings of disgruntled alumni.

The 20th Century-Fox film is a thing called "Father Was a Full-back."

It could be the story of plenty of coaches who got the old heave-ho last year, and the year before that. Maybe some of them should put in a prompt pitch for a job as technical advisor.

HOLLYWOOD, March 10.—Off the celluloid cuff:
One of the biggest publicity build-ups in Hollywood history is about to be busted loose on the paying public. Republic studios, which first brought fame to Gene Autry and Roy Rogers, will introduce a new singing cowboy star named Rex Allen. He strums a mean guitar, can actually ride a horse and was imported to movie-town from Wilcox, Arizona, via Chicago. The studio is spending nothing but dough on the lanky 26-year-old actor, whose first flicker will be a super-musical, "The Arizona Cowboy."

Lining Up Pictures
Four different studios are feverishly lining up pictures dealing with the Army Air Force's recent

'round-the-world non-stop flight, but Director Frank Borzages has the inside track. He's heading for Washington to get military brass approval... Comedian Jack Paar is recovering from the sprained ankle suffered when he fainted in a hospital waiting room after nurses told him his wife had just presented him with a baby boy...

Vera Ralston wears $300,000 worth of antique gems in Republic's "Eagles in Exile." Two of the chunks of ice which belonged to Empress Josephine are insured for a 100,000 bucks... Allan Jones and the missus, Irene Hervey, have lined up a vaudeville tour of England for this summer.

Green Hair
R.K.O. studio is being plagued with whacky characters who have dyed their noggins green ever since the release of "The Boy With the Green Hair." We saw three green-haired creatures walking down Hollywood boulevard yesterday...

Bill Marshall is getting hitched in Paris next month to Michele Presle. He used to be married to Michele Morgan... Practically all the big wheels in filmtown attended the cocktail party daughter Anna gave yesterday for Eleanor Roosevelt.

Likes To Eat
Success Story: Nicholas Ray is a guy who likes to eat. He keeps steaks in his own icebox by applying a chef's maxim to picture-making: "Trim off the fat and serve piping hot." That's Ray's recipe for turning out well-done dramas.

He is a brand new director in the film dodge, but he has raised the eyebrows of old-line movie-makers by directing nothing but hits from the word go. And some of the most famous producers in the business are taking lessons from the young fellow.

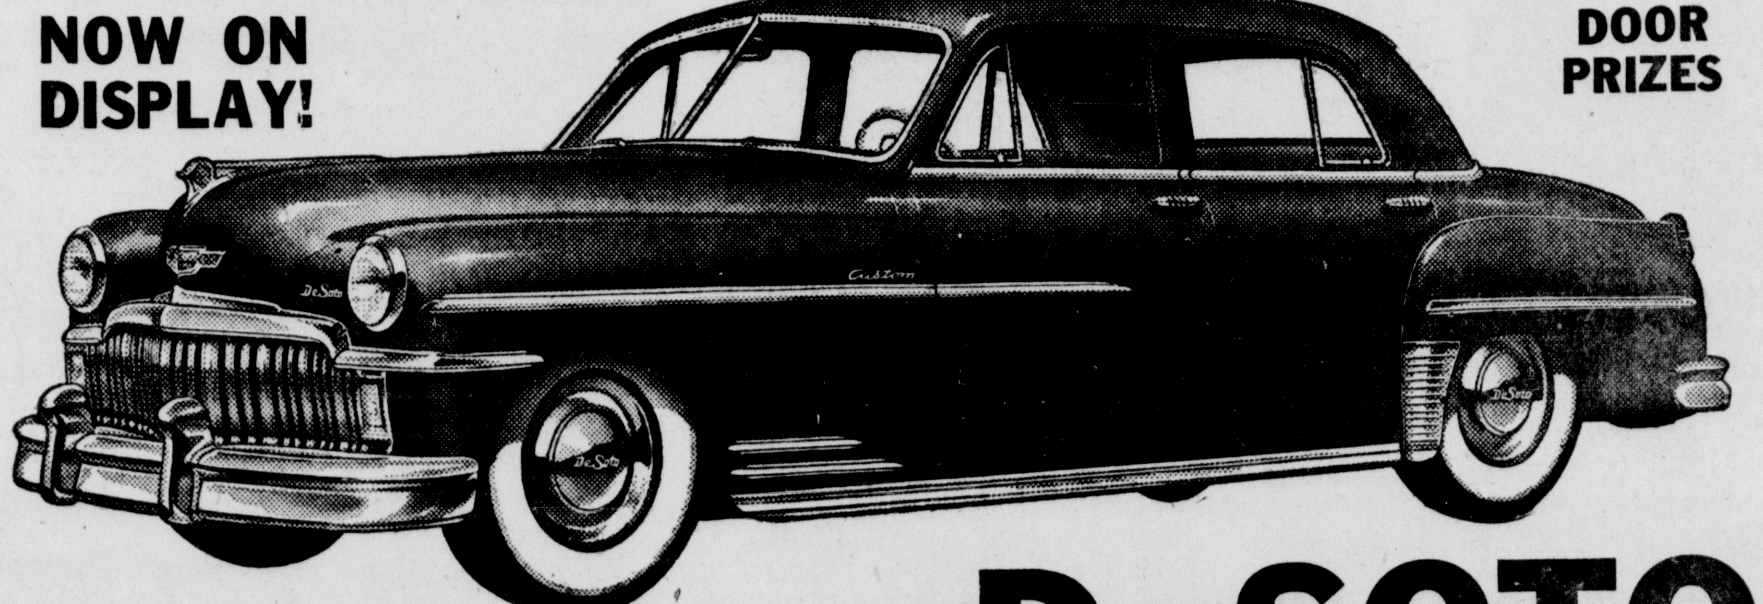

The Fire Island lighthouse, on Long Island, is said to have caused the death of over 600 birds in one night.

In ancient days, cinnamon was thought to grow in a mysterious lake, guarded by ferocious birds who attacked traders who were trying to snatch a branch of the tree. Legend said cinnamon had magic properties and it was used in love potions.

Bacteria may be attacked by some fungi, such as the one from which penicillin is prepared. There are even enemies of bacteria of the filterable virus type which are smaller than bacteria.

Social Security Complete Report Saves Time, Money

Tax Report Due Next Month
Should Include Account Number Of Each Employee

"Local employers can save themselves time and money, if their quarterly social security tax reports, which are due again next month, contain an account number for every worker for whom they report wages," it was pointed out by Myron Milbouer, manager of the New Castle Social Security Administration field office.

"Our office which services the counties of Lawrence, Butler and Mercer receives in an average quarter almost 1,000 names of workers for whom wages have been reported on employers' quarterly social security tax reports but without the employees' account numbers," Mr. Milbouer continued.

Credit Earnings

"The Social Security Administration is charged with the responsibility of seeing that each worker's account is properly credited with all his earnings. Failure to include the social security number on a tax report means we have to go back to the employer to track down the missing social security numbers. All of this adds up to a loss to the employer in time and money and an increase in our operating expenses part of which as a taxpayer, he helps to meet," he observed.

Mr. Milbouer added that over the years, the majority of employers have improved their reporting practices and that now it is a small minority who fail to send in reports that contain a social security number for every employee reported.

The New Castle field office located at 500 Frew Building, 10 W. Washington street will be glad to give any interested employer advice on how they can improve the quality of their social security reports.

British Navy Readied For Atomic Warfare

'Guinea Pig' Pocket Cruiser To Be Subjected To American
Radioactive Rays

LONDON, March 10. — (INS) — The British Navy has served notice that it is being readied to deal with atomic warfare.

Chief of the royal navy's atomic projects, the House of Commons learned last night, will be a "bomb-less little Bikini" in which a "guinea pig" pocket cruiser will be subjected to American-made radioactive rays.

John Dugdale, parliamentary secretary to the admiralty, in disclosing the experiment, said purpose of the "bombing" will be to determine the effect of atomic radiation in the vitals of a warship.

Making Experiments
It was understood, that the experiment would be along these lines:

The 15-year-old cruiser Arethusa will be anchored in the English channel, well off the coast. Gamma rays will be shot at its sides from nearby pontoons. Scientists, wearing special protective clothing will be on hand to watch the rays in action.

No humans or animals will be aboard the Arethusa during the bombardment.

Dugdale said that Isotopes manufactured at an American atomic bomb pile will be used for emission of the rays.

The secretary, together with the former first lord of the admiralty, Brendan Bracken, both spoke at parliamentary debate on naval estimates.

Bracken warned that the Russians are "building up the greatest submarine fleet in history with the help of German officers and technicians."

His charge that the government had little in the way of anti-submarine power drew a sharp denial from Defense Minister A. V. Alexander, who indicated that the admiralty is well aware of Soviet undersea developments.

One Of Two Blue Eyes Stock Of Businessman

Debt Laden Unemployed Worker
Offers To Sell One Eye
For $8,000

DEDHAM, Mass., March 10. — (INS) — An unemployed Dedham construction worker heavily laden with debts went into business — his stock consisting solely of one of his two blue eyes.

Edward Burke, 24, offered to sell one of his eyes for $8,000 to make good $1,500 he owes, and buy a small home for his ill wife and young son.

For the past three months Burke has sought work in vain. Next Tuesday, he and his family are scheduled to be evicted with two other families from a six-room duplex house in East Dedham.

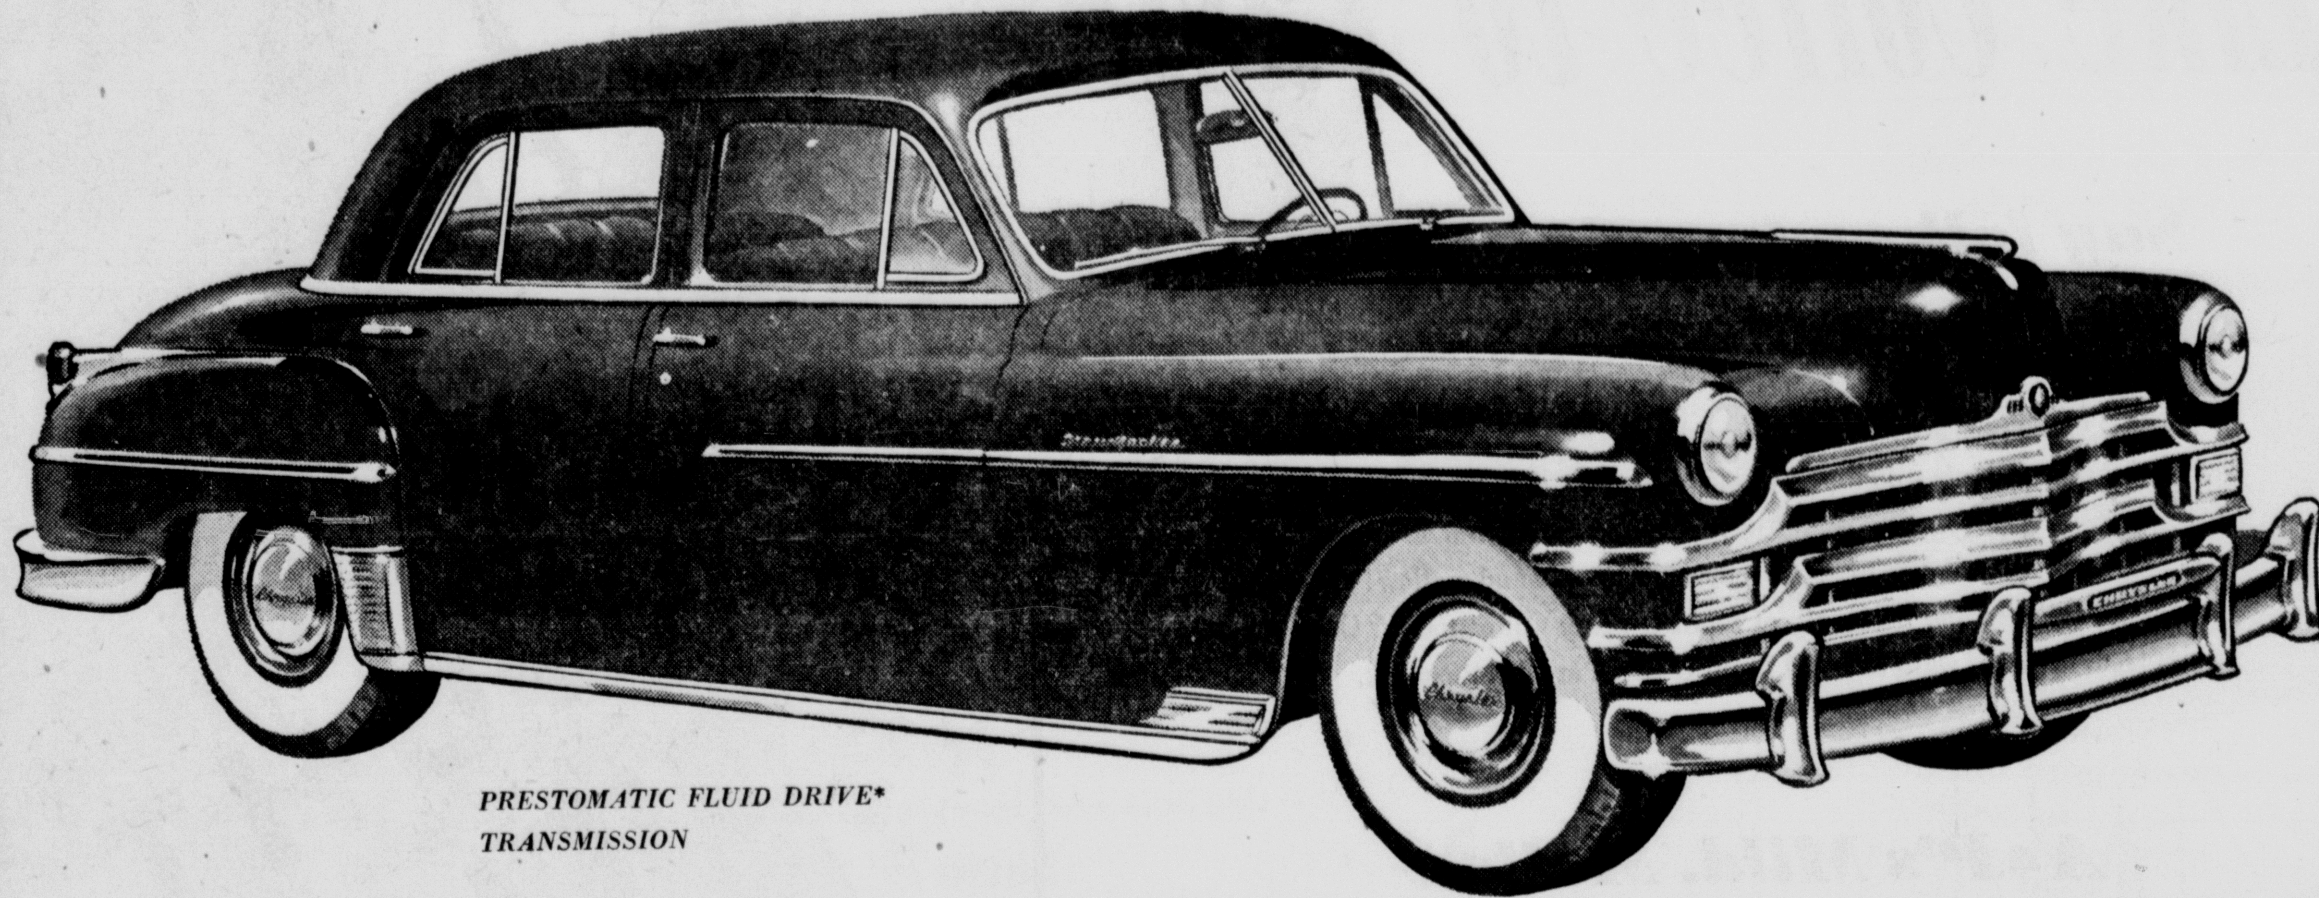

The distraught father said he wanted neither sympathy nor charity. He said he offered one of his eyes for sale because "my wife and baby have been unhappy so long I want to see them smile again."

Yugoslavia To Boost ERP Nations Exports

Curtailing Exports To Her Communist-Dominated Neighbors
At Same Time

By WILLIAM KERWIN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—Foreign aid sources disclosed that Yugoslavia is "substantially" boosting her exports of strategic materials to the Marshall Plan countries.

At the same time, Yugoslavia, which has been ousted from Russia's Cominform, is sharply curtailing her trade with her Communist-dominated neighbors in Eastern Europe.

Best estimates available show that Yugoslavia and the 19 ERP countries did at least $328,200,000 worth of business last year. Imports from Yugoslavia were estimated at least $183,600,000.

Non-Ferrous Metals
Much of this material going into the recovery nations consisted of non-ferrous metals which are vital to industrial production.

Economic Cooperation Administration officials were unable to make estimates but stated that the trade between the two areas is "substantially increasing."

They pointed to a number of trade agreements already signed or in negotiation which would even add further to the trade totals.

Ever since Marshall Tito, head of Yugoslavia, broke with the Cominform last summer trade between the two areas has been surging upward.

Principle Items
One ECA official said that lead, zinc and copper, all strategic metals, are the principle items exported by the Tito government.

The official added:

"I would say that the diversion of these materials from the east to the west is having an adverse effect on industrial production in Eastern Europe.

"Their main sources of these metals are Poland and Yugoslavia is the best source of all."

Suggests Action On Fire Hazards

HARRISBURG, March 10.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (AFL) today supported legislation which would force the commonwealth to make repairs to eliminate fire hazards in state owned or controlled institutions. President James L. McDevitt branded many of the buildings "fire hazards" and said a large number were built from 20 to 50 years ago with open stairways and other hazards. Alterations and sprinkling systems would be installed under the proposed legislation introduced by Reps. L. A. Bloom (R) Delaware and Theodore H. Schmidt (D) Allegheny.

There is a town named Washington in each of 27 states, also 16 names such as Washington Bridge, Washington Grove, Washington Courthouse, etc.

Berlin Police Foil Red Mob

Break Up Attempt To Move Red Official Back Into U. S. Sector

BERLIN, March 10. — (INS) — West Berlin police today smashed a Communist mob's attempt to move a German Communist official back into his U. S. sector office from which he was ousted yesterday.

West sector policemen scattered a crowd of several dozen German Communists, and detained Wilhelm Knapp, former personnel director of the Berlin Transport Association (BVG). Knapp was later released and sent back to the Soviet sector.

A strong police guard was posted around the BVG building after the unsuccessful Communist effort.

Knapp was relieved of his post by the predominantly anti-Communist executive board of the BVG whose members run all subways, elevated trains and trolley cars in the former capital.

Police had warned Knapp that he would be barred re-entry into the BVG headquarters. The Communist mob succeeded in throwing out the building guards today, but were summarily ousted themselves when west sector police appeared on the scene.

Up to Knapp's removal, the BVG had been the only major municipal group not split by the east-west division of Berlin. Western officials believe the Soviets may retaliate by setting up a separate transport system.

Interesting Meeting Is Held In Central Fire Station Wednesday Evening

Members of the Lawrence County Firemen's Association had their monthly meeting Wednesday evening in Central Fire Station here, with the New Castle department as hosts.

Reports on the recent coordination survey were received from some of the departments, and President Harold Anderson appointed Larry Hemenway, of Union Township, as chairman of a committee to see that a complete report is made at next month's meeting.

Inventory is to be taken of all equipment so that it can be available for use of other departments in the event of an extreme emergency.

New Wilmington will be host at the next meeting in April.

Following the business session, colored pictures were shown through the courtesy of J. S. Riley and company, which proved most interesting, and afterwards, a lunch was served by the New Castle department, with Andy Dodds and Frank Robinson in charge.

BOY IS HURT
Joseph Grednick, 317½ Sycamore street, was hurt Wednesday evening at 5:15 o'clock when struck with a lunch box by a companion. He was treated for lacerations of the left eye in the New Castle hospital and later was discharged.

INJURES FOOT
Dale Gross, aged 36 years, 712 Carlisle street, of the Norwalk Truck lines, was injured at work when a piece of steel fell and struck his left foot. He was treated for lacerations in the New Castle hospital and later discharged.

Over 85 percent of the churches in the United States have Sunday Schools, with a total estimated enrollment of nearly 23,000,000, says a Twentieth Century Fund report.

Furnaces of the steel industry, operating fully, can pour more than 180 tons of raw steel every minute for a full year. The new record capacity is 18 per cent higher than the capacity of 1940, compared with a population increase of 11 per cent during the same period.

The "Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania," in Harrison State Park near Wellsboro, has a gorge almost 30 miles long and more than 1,000 feet deep at some points.

But Where?

It might be here! It might be anywhere in the United States. The Red Cross participates in an average of six disaster relief operations every week.

In 303 disasters last year the local chapters of the Red Cross were on the scene at once, had relief organized in a matter of hours, served as the funnel through which flowed the nation's sympathy and help. Your contributions brought temporary housing... emergency food supplies... medical and nursing care to 312,400 victims. Later, thousands of these victims received long-term rehabilitation aid.

To carry on this mission of mercy, the Red Cross once again asks your help. So won't you give, and give generously?

You, too, can help through

State Legal Heir Of Philadelphia Barber

German-Born Philadelphia Barber Wills $42,000 Estate To Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, March 10.—(INS)—An orphan's court judge has ruled that a German-born Philadelphia barber had a perfect right to will his $42,000 estate to the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The barber—John Gellert, 70, a bachelor—died March 27, 1948, and left everything to the state which had been "so very good" to him.

Gellert's will said that because he had earned his fortune in Pennsylvania, it was only proper it should "go back from whence it came."

A cousin, Elizabeth Kremsler, sought to break the will on the grounds that Gellert was not of sound mind when he drew it up.

But Judge Charles Klein ruled that "the commonwealth clearly established by a preponderance of uncontradicted evidence that the will was properly executed in every particular."

And the jurist added: "Many of the problems which confront us today as a nation would vanish if more of our citizens regarded their homeland with the same reverence and love as did its adopted son, John Gellert."

State Police Enforce Auto Headlight Rules

HARRISBURG.—The lights of nearly a half-million automobiles were inspected on Pennsylvania highways last year by state policemen especially assigned to enforce headlight regulations, according to a report issued from State Police Headquarters today.

There were 478,937 cars examined, and violations resulted in the issuance of 117,255 warning cards. In 1947, state police stopped 285,540 cars for headlight inspection, and 91,751 warnings were issued.

In 1948, there were 690 arrests for various light violations, while 628 were arrested in 1947.

It is the policy of the state police to issue warning cards to drivers who violate the lighting equipment requirements, except in cases of willful and deliberate violation when it is evident that the deficiency has existed for a period of time sufficient to permit the operator to have had it corrected.

Thomas Bewick (1753-1828) was an English engraver and founder of modern wood engraving. He was born at Cherryburn House, near Newcastle-on-Tyne, and his first important work was a series of cuts for children's books published in 1775.

More Persons Fail In Driver License Tests

HARRISBURG.—The increased number of persons failing to pass regular drivers' examinations indicates that applicants are not properly preparing for the tests, according to Pennsylvania state police.

Of the 273,062 applicants for licenses appearing for examination in 1948, there were 84,773 failures against 64,903 in 1947 when 248,988 applicants appeared before state police examiners.

"Driving is a serious business, whether you drive for business or pleasure," said Colonel C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner. "However, the number failing to pass the examination last year indicates that prospective drivers are not taking their responsibilities as seriously as they should. No applicant should appear for the driving test without being certain of his ability to drive and answer the questions that he may be asked concerning highway laws."

Applicants are examined by state police at 100 places in Pennsylvania. An applicant may appear for the test at any of the designated places.

Part Of State Claimed By Spanish Royalty

Former Queen Of Spain Believed To Have Owned Land In Clinton County

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., March 10.—(INS)—Spanish royalty today claimed part of the state of Pennsylvania.

Robert W. Bullock, register and recorder of Clinton county, said he received inquiry about records of deeds of land believed to have been owned at one time by Queen Maria Christina, former queen of Spain.

Bullock said the inquiry was from Comtesse Josephine Wrbah-Kaunitz of Switzerland, reported executrix of the will of the late Princess Maria de la Paz of Spain.

The letter of inquiry claimed that certain property in the state was recognized from 1907 to 1911 to belong to the princess in parleys between the royal house of Spain and the government of Pennsylvania. The comtesse said she would like some records, but Bullock said there are none.

Six hundred and fifty-nine postage stamps have been issued since 1847, but only seven have honored women—Susan B. Anthony, the E. Willard, Jane Addams and Mrs. Dare, Louisa May Alcott, Frances mothers of America, Virginia Martha Washington.

Says Church Most Powerful Body In All America

CLEVELAND, March 10.—(INS)—John Foster Dulles, United States to the United Nations, told delegates to the National Study Conference in Cleveland Wednesday that the church "is the most powerful body in powerful America."

Dulles was one of the key figures in a hot debate centered around the definition of the words "Christian methods" in the group's discussion of "churches and American policy in Europe."

It had been proposed that the two words be inserted in a statement bearing on the responsibility of the United States to help in preventing forceful extension of Communism and intimidation by Russia.

"Use of force is less an evil than to stand aside and keep ourselves unblemished while greater evils sweep unchecked over the world," the Republican foreign policy adviser asserted.

Frederick Frelinghuysen was an American statesman who raised a corps of artillery and fought in the Revolutionary War. He was a member of the Continental Congress in 1778 and 1782-3; and a U. S. Senator 1793-6. He died in 1804.

Court House

Hickory Appeal Promises Crowd

Township Taxpayers Roar
At Increased Assessments Appeal To Be Heard

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Hickory township taxpayers are roaring over their county assessments for 1949.

An appeal date will be set by the county commissioners and when held it is expected the hearing will attract a crowd large enough to fill a court room.

Roscoe Clement is the county assessor for the township. According to Harvey B. Bush, chairman of the commissioners, Mr. Clement adopted the following system in making the assessment. He took the fair sale value of each property and then took 25 per cent of that. This was the assessed value placed upon each property.

The new figures show an increase of assessed valuations in the township of $178,000. The taxpayers complain they are out of line with other townships, which may be true, but the assessments in Hickory are still only 25 per cent of what the law says they should be.

Several county assessors have increased valuations this year to the accompaniment of taxpayers' roars. County valuations are still ridiculously low, compared to the City of New Castle, according to the figures in the assessment office.

HABEAS CORPUS

Before Judge John G. Lamoree on Wednesday a habeas corpus petition for the return of a minor child was heard. Robert Wheale asked that Carol Jean Wheale, born October 23, 1946, be returned to his custody.

Wheale claimed that he had possession of his daughter but that on January 8, 1949, his wife took the child away and refused to return her. He claims she is not a proper person to care for their daughter.

SALE PLANNED

Twelve properties have been placed upon the sale list by the county commissioners. These are properties which were offered for sale at an "upset price" sale with no bidders.

All liens have been diverted from them and they will be offered for sale after a date has been set by the court. Among them are some houses in South New Castle Boro which are expected to bring some spirited bidding and a 100 acre farm in Mahoning township which is sought by a number of bidders.

PAINT OFFICES

Painting of the offices upon the floor occupied by the county commissioners has started. The walls are being painted Williams-bur green.

Spurns 'Because' As Wedding Number

Other Traditional Music Played At
Wedding Tabooed By St. Louis
Organ Teacher

ST. LOUIS.—(INS)—"Because" may be satisfactory as a woman's explanation, but it's no good for music at her wedding.

At least that's the opinion of Dr. Barrett Spach, head of the Northwestern University Organ department.

Dr. Spach said in St. Louis recently that "anything but good pastoral music is foreign to the spirit of a church wedding. Most brides confuse music for their church service with music that's suitable only for the reception."

He told the Missouri chapter of the American Guild of Organists that other songs which should be ruled out as church-wedding music are "I Love You Truly," "At Dawning," "Yours Is My Heart Alone," and "Always."

He suggested that the bride "always can have these old chestnuts wailed out at the reception by a harmonica and a saxophone," and added:

"The bride who chooses 'Because' for her wedding music might just as well jitterbug down the aisle."

The Tuesday evening, March 15, meeting of the Wolves has been cancelled, it was announced today.

Reduction In Milk

Price Is Directed

HARRISBURG, March 10.—(INS)—A cut of one and a half cents a quart in price of standard milk was announced Wednesday by the Milk Control commission for customers in six areas.

They were the Pittsburgh, Erie, Schuylkill, Johnstown-Altoona and the Williamsport-Sayre-Athens.

The commission said the order, effective March 16, provides for seasonal price fluctuations.

All milk marketing areas, except Scranton and Wyoming, have been included in the seasons price structure.

Hearings on prices in the Scranton area will be held March 14, the MCC reported. A spokesman hinted Wyoming would be added to the Scranton area.

In most cases, producer prices will be reduced 40 cents a hundredweight, according to the MCC.

The new price schedule calls for the following prices:

Pittsburgh, 20½ cents; Erie, 20½ cents; Schuylkill (Zone 1) 20 cents and (Zone 2) 20½ cents; Johnstown-Altoona, 20 cents; Williamsport-Sayre-Athens, (Zone 1) 20 cents and (Zone 2) remain at 20 cents.

Two Men Report Being Slugged And Robbed Here

Two men were slugged and robbed of approximately $220 and two wrist watches in Neshannock avenue, near East street, at 1:15 a.m. today, according to a report made by the victims, Charles E. Leasure Jr., Delaware avenue, and Paul Cubbison, East North street. They were assaulted by two men, they reported.

Leasure was robbed of $200 and his watch. Cubbison was robbed of $20 and his watch.

Police headquarters got a telephone call that trouble was brewing in the avenue, from a man whose name is withheld. Police-men Haering and Reese went to the spot and found Leasure and Cubbison, who said they had been beaten up and robbed. Both had been in a night club. They left together.

Leasure said he intended to drive Cubbison to the latter's home. His car was parked between East Washington street and the night club. Leasure reported he walked only a short distance toward his car when he was pulled inside a doorway. During the melee he struck his assailant in the face.

However, he was knocked down, and his wallet, containing $200, was taken and his wrist watch ripped from his wrist.

Cubbison was also attacked, robbed, and his wrist watch was also ripped from his wrist.

Leasure described the men as follows:

No. 1—Tall, heavy set and muscular; had dark, curly hair and had dark complexion.

No. 2—Short of stature but stockily built, had a dark complexion.

NO CLUES TO FINANCE THEFT

Police Chief Robert D. Hanna reported today that no clues as to the identities of the men who held up and robbed the Household Finance company, Tuesday afternoon, have been found. License numbers of automobiles, one of which may have been used by the bandits to flee in, are being investigated. The bandits obtained $352.89, in the hold-up, which was committed by two men, unmasked, but armed with automatic pistols.

Connecticut Seeking 'Cinderella Bride'

'Cinderella Bride' To Be Chosen
From 175 Girls To Be Married In June

HARTFORD, Conn., March 10.—(INS)—Connecticut began looking today for a "Cinderella bride" among 175 excited girls expecting to be married in June.

There won't be the pumpkin which turns into a coach, or the glass shoe to fit the foot, but there will be a French bridal gown for the girl who has the right measurements.

The gown was sent Connecticut by the people of Lyons, France on the Gratitude Train as a token of appreciation for America's Friendship Train, and was to be given to the June bride who fit it the best.

At Least 175
It developed, however, that there were at least 175 girls in Connecticut of that description.

Applications began to pour in to the Gratitude Train committee, the governor and the secretary of state, and a "contest" was quickly organized.

At the "measuring in" ceremonies, conducted by a committee of eight women, the 175 applicants will be narrowed down to a small group.

Then another committee, composed of three artists, will pick the lucky bride-to-be.

Glenn O. Rowell, chairman of the Gratitude Train committee, explained that today's "measuring in" will determine "if the gown fits the girl." The final judging on Sunday, he said, will be to select "the girl that fits the gown."

The name of Benjamin Franklin is borne by 30 United States post offices.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERR

In New York for a visit, Miss Rebecca West was confronted by a well-known boulevardier and his young friend. Although they are several inches apart in height, these two Beau Brummels affect identical suits, shirts, cravats, and haircuts.

"My goodness," commented Miss West, "they look like a nest of tables!"

S. Jay Kaufman remembers a tense moment at the Lambs club when an old member clapped Joe Laurie, Jr., on the back and belatedly, "Bless my soul, it's Holbrook Blinn. I haven't seen you in ages." "No wonder," said Laurie coldly. "I've been dead since 1928."

In Gene Fowler's early days as a reporter he was writing a story in a hotel lobby when the desk clerk called to him that there had just been a shooting in a room on the sixth floor. Fowler rushed up to the room, picked up the dead man's hand and called his editor. "Have you seen the body?" the editor asked.

"Have I seen the body?" answered Fowler. "I'm sitting on it!" Copyright, 1949, by Bennett Cerr. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Remarriage Chances Show Improvement

Remarried Widows And Divorcees
Comprise One Eighth Of Married Women In U. S.

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 10.—Remarried widows and divorcees now comprise about one-eighth of all married women in the United States, and the chances of remarriage for a divorced or widowed woman are better than at any time in the past 50 years, according to the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

One in six of all recent brides has been married before. The frequency of remarriage has increased, especially at the younger ages. This increase is considered to be largely the result of the pronounced rise during recent years in the total number of divorced persons, among whom the remarriage rate is very high.

"The divorce rate has increased even among couples married more than five years," observe the statisticians, "and the remarriage of divorced persons has been an important factor in the marriage boom of the war and postwar years."

An increasing sparsity of eligible males at the older ages affects adversely the marital chances of widows and divorcees past middle life, and dependent children reduce by somewhat more than one eighth the probabilities of remarriage for women past the childbearing ages.

College Students Hear Engineer

Industrial Engineer Discusses Problems Of Day At Westminster

"The basic labor problem—unemployment—hinges on the optimum use of labor so that a fair day's work is actually given for a fair day's pay," Henry J. Pyzinski of the Pittsburgh Technical Institute told industrial relations and business policies classes at Westminster College, Wednesday.

Mr. Pyzinski, an industrial engineer, claims that the ignorance of many industrial relations directors, managers in general and government officials concerned with wage control has led to inefficiency in the full utilization of labor.

"Industrial engineers are not serving just management and enlightened union leaders realize this," Pyzinski said. "Industrial engineers are sincerely attempting to meet the need for better economic conditions through promoting training for workers up their capacity after careful selection of employee personnel has been made."

Mr. Pyzinski stressed the need for well-trained industrial engineers and added that the demand for such men far outstrips the supply.

"Students sincerely interested in human relations will do well to take up methods engineering and find places for themselves in the allied fields of unions, government and industry," he concluded.

Exempt 'Retailer' From Minimum

House Labor Committee Votes
Exemption For 'Retailers'
On Wage Hour Law

WASHINGTON, March 10. — (INS)—The House Labor committee on Wednesday voted a flat exemption for retailers from the minimum wage, overtime and child labor provisions of the Federal Wage-Hour Law.

group scored a victory when the committee adopted, 13 to 12, an amendment to this effect by Rep. McConnell (R) Pa. Several Southern Democrats supported the amendment.

The action came during a two-hour committee session on the administration bill to boost the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour. The committee is expected to approve the increase in the minimum wage.

Adoption of the McConnell amendment on retailers was another setback for the administration's program to broaden the coverage of the wage-hour law.

Scranton Man Stabs Wife, Kills Self

Stabs Self To Death During Family Quarrel Over Employment Problems

SCRANTON, Pa., March 10. — (INS)—Stanley Pynsia, 42, stabbed himself to death Wednesday with a German-made knife after critically wounding his wife, Mary, 41, during a family quarrel.

Police Capt. Richard Benyon said the couple argued because Pynsia has been unable to find employment as a silk mill worker.

Mrs. Pynsia was stabbed in the abdomen, face and chest, but managed to stagger downstairs to call help.

Before neighbors or police arrived, Pynsia drove the knife into his stomach and was found dead, kneeling against a bed when authorities appeared on the scene.

The Pynsias have three children.

Jasper stones, in ancient days, were set in rings and supposed to be superior in healing power to other precious or semi-precious gems.

Chambers Co. To Have Open House

Two-Day Event To Celebrate
Long Service Of Chrysler
And Chambers Motor

For 25 years the name Chrysler has been synonymous with fine automobiles.

And on Friday and Saturday, March 11 and 12, the Chambers Motor company at 125 West Grant street is holding Open House to celebrate the quarter century service of the Chrysler company, the 24 years service of the Chambers company and to show in all its beauty the Silver Anniversary Chrysler.

Well-Bred Beauty
The Silver Anniversary Chrysler is what you would expect from the Chrysler company. Someone has said that it has "well-bred beauty" which is as succinct a way of putting it as we know.

For every year of Chrysler service the company has added two advances in the new Silver Anniversary Chrysler. Phrase makers are having a field day describing it.

"The easiest, sweetest car to handle ever built by Chrysler. Most powerful. Most exciting. A revelation in driving." These are but a few and a look at the new Chrysler seems to warrant the extravagant praise heaped upon it.

Amazing new protection for drivers and passengers. More horsepower. Prestomatic fluid drive transmission. Safety level ride, safety rim wheels, wider chair height seats, wider doors and broader windows, flashing pickup and go, these are but a few of the improvements in the new Silver Anniversary Chrysler.

263 Years Service
Service in the Chambers Motor company seems to be more or less a permanent thing. Forty-five employees have given 263 years of service to the company and every one of them skilled in his own department.

The company is headed by T. E. Chambers, who started his concern 24 years ago. Over that time he has sold and serviced thousands of Chrysler cars in New Castle and the modern new home at 125 West Grant street is tangible evidence of community confidence in the company and in the product.

Mr. Chambers and his staff are enthusiastic over the new Silver Anniversary Chrysler. It's an enthusiasm that borders upon the effervescent. Bubbling over is another way of putting it.

They believe the new Chrysler is the tops in anything the Chrysler company has ever produced and want to prove it to every motor car lover in the country.

The two-day Open House starts Friday morning and continues through Saturday night. It is an opportunity to see a fine new automobile and to inspect a modern, efficient plant.

U. S. 'Radar Screen' Approved By House

Approves By Voice Vote To Protect U. S. Against Sudden Air Attack

WASHINGTON, March 10. — (INS)—The House on Wednesday approved by voice vote creation of a "radar screen" to protect the United States against a sudden air attack.

No objection was raised to the legislation authorizing the appropriation of whatever funds are needed to establish the radar network. The bill now goes to the Senate.

It was estimated that the network would cost 161 million dollars.

The project will be a joint endeavor of the United States and Canada to give advance warning of the approach of enemy planes across the ocean or the Arctic area.

Mark Love, of the Curtis Candy company, will be the speaker. This affair will also be ladies night. Members will be contacted for reservations.

PRAISE CAN BE OVERDONE

Children thrive on praise. Judiciously used, it is a far better method to secure desirable behavior than blame or punishment. All of us, adult and child alike, want to be approved. We want to feel that the things we do are appreciated.

But there can be too much of even a good thing. Sometimes parents or teachers, realizing how effective praise is likely to be, "put it on too thick." For the slightest thing, they give lavish praise. When this happens, youngsters soon detect the false note and are antagonized rather than spurred on or encouraged.

More than almost any other thing, children appreciate honesty in those around them. Since overpraise is a kind of dishonesty, it is disliked. Now and again, a child has been so starved for approval that he "eats up" any amount of praise. In such instances it is wise to be more generous with praise and approval until the time when he no longer hungers for it.

Normally, however, praise in moderation is most effective. A quiet word of commendation, a pat on the back or a smile that shows approval is usually more effective than the more showy kind of praise.

Plan New Method To Keep "Undesirables" Out Of Radio-Video

By JOHN DRUCKENBROD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The Federal Communications commission was revealed today to have conceived "a bold new plan" for keeping Communists and other "undesirables" out of radio and television.

The proposed program would intensify present FCC efforts to bar Communists, fellow travelers and all other subversive elements from the broadcasting field. Under the new scheme which the commission tentatively plans to put into effect April 4, the FCC would rely more on the vast radio and television audience to help police the industry.

Increased emphasis would be placed on getting the millions of radio and television listeners to report their views and objections to present and proposed owners of radio and video stations. The public would be alerted to requests for new stations and proposed changes in existing ones by a requirement that the station heads publicly advertise virtually all requests they make to the FCC for station ownership and broadcast changes.

In "Strategic Position" Officials said the FCC believes that the public is in a "strategic position" to uncover any evidence of possible misuse of radio and television facilities.

The radio and video audience would be pressed into service to augment present FCC investigatory bodies and report irregularities "more systematically" than before.

Officials also declared that Communists and "Pinks" are not the only "undesirables" the FCC is trying to keep from broadcasting. They said this field also includes underworld figures, those who slant the news, broadcasters who present one-sided views of public issues and generally all other individuals whose participation in the industry would be "against the public interest."

At present, radio and television stations are required only to advertise for competing bids when preparing to sell their properties. But under the new schedule, it would be mandatory for them to advertise requests for: (1) new

Odds Against Tax Increase

Chief Reason Is Threat Of Sustained Business Decline In Nation

DISPUTE ALSO OVER ESTIMATES

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Odds are now definitely against any increase in taxes this year. The chief reason is the threat of a sustained business decline.

Other reasons are conflicts in estimates of government revenue and expenditures and the opposition to a tax boost by Senate Finance Chairman Walter F. George (D., Georgia).

Senator George usually has his way on tax legislation. As an individual, the quiet-mannered southerner wields tremendous power.

Also militating against an increase is the dispute over revenue estimates between the Treasury and Colin Stam, chief of the congressional tax staff.

Stam has been feeding out estimates about two billion dollars higher than those of the Treasury. Members of Congress are inclined to regard Stam's figures as more reliable.

It seems safe to say there will be no tax increase bill at all unless government expenditures appear to be going higher than anticipated. Business points upward instead of downward and the government is clearly nosing into "red ink" in the next fiscal year.

LABOR LAW
Can there be more than one "balance of power" in a given situation? That is the question Democratic and Republican leaders ask as they look ahead toward ultimate action in a new labor law.

Senators Wayne Morse (R., Oregon), and Irving M. Ives (R., New York), figure that they will wield the balance of power in writing the labor law, while southern Democrats view themselves in the same role.

If Morse and Ives can agree on a compromise labor bill, they believe they can snare a number of Republican votes from the camp of Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio), and his followers who want to retain most of the Taft-Hartley Act.

On the other hand, southern Democrats plan to desert the administration and vote with Taft.

The Republicans have 41 votes in the Senate; the Democrats 55, counting Senator William Langer (R., North Dakota) who more often than not votes Democratic.

Should Taft be able to keep the GOP ranks united and steal away a dozen southern Democratic votes, he could just about write the new labor law.

However, if Morse and Ives split the Republican ranks, the issue is decidedly up in the air. So the question is: who's going to wield what balance of power?

SEN. TAFT GOALS
Senator Taft, already campaigning in Ohio, has goals beyond his drive for re-election in 1950. These are:

1—Capturing the GOP presidential nomination, twice denied him.

2—That accomplished, winning the presidential election in 1952 and becoming the first man elected president on the Republican ticket since Herbert Hoover turned the trick in 1928.

Taft is determined not to compromise his position as President Truman's No. 1 congressional opponent. He has told friends he will either win on his convictions or go down fighting.

He faces his big hurdle next year. Labor—strong in Ohio—is determined to beat Taft. If he can overcome that opposition, he will be the strongest GOP contender for the 1952 nomination.

Taft believes his position will be strengthened if he can force retention of the strongest features of the Taft-Hartley Act. He is convinced labor itself will get around to thinking that the law is not so bad as it has been painted.

Believe It Or Not In Ripley's Home

PALM BEACH, Fla.—(INS)—For several months a painting hanging on the wall of Robert ("Believe It Or Not") Ripley's Palm Beach home persisted in falling to the floor.

Each time the picture crashed it was restrung with heavier wire and hung on the wall again, only to break and tumble down in a week or ten days.

Finally the "cause celebre" was found. It seems that the nail supporting the picture had contacted an electric wire, which caused a short.

The short heated the nail—and the picture wire—to such an extent that the picture crumbled.

Aged Man Enters Hillsville Place

State police at 6:30 a. m. today arrested John Dumanich, about 65, of Hillsville vicinity, in the Petro-Corsey beer sales place. He was taken to the county jail. A charge will be made against him after State police confer with the district attorney.

The State police got a telephone call from Patsy DeCervo, grocer, where Dumanich had tried to, but failed to enter. De Cervo said the man was in the Petro-Corsey place.

When 20 minutes later the State police got there they found the man had broken a rear door, entered the place, turned on the lights, the radio, spread out comics and was drinking beer.

According to the State police he had recently been released from the county jail, where he served 10 days on a charge of disorderly conduct.

It appears Sheriff Frank Coen and Deputy Tom O'Brien had found the aged man wandering about in the cold, hence they took him in, more for protection to himself than any serious charge.

Pigeonhole Bill For Licensing Of Practical Nurses

HARRISBURG, March 10.—(INS)—Legislation to require the licensing of practical nurses was pigeonholed today by the house committee on professional licensure.

The committee voted 9 to 7 to reject the measure which carried the approval of the State Nurses Association and Pennsylvania Medical society.

Similar legislation has been sponsored in the senate by health committee chairman Leroy Chapman (R) Warren.

Rep. George J. Saraff (D), Pittsburgh physician, said the bill was defeated in view of strong opposition from a large group of registered nurses. The measure was sponsored by Rep. Jeanette M. Dye (R), Mercer.

Urges Legalizing Use Of Alcometers

HARRISBURG, March 10.—(INS)—The use of alcometers to ascertain degrees of intoxication among motorists suspected of drunkenness would be legalized in Pennsylvania under legislation today before the house.

Rep. George J. Saraff (D) Allegheny, sponsored the bill which would allow the findings of alcometers to be admitted as evidence in court proceedings.

Saraff, a Pittsburgh physician, proposed that alcometers, or other established testing devices, be legalized and that certificates of medical directors or qualified medical examiners be admitted as evidence.

Would Boost Pay For MCC Members

HARRISBURG, March 10.—(INS)—The members of the milk control commission would receive salary increases according to a bill in the senate state government committee today.

The annual salary of the chairman would be raised from $7,250 to $10,500 while the pay of commissioners would be increased from $6,750 to $10,000 each.

SUMMER CAMP

BILL APPROVED

HARRISBURG, March 10.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff's signature was on a bill authorizing a summer camp for underprivileged children on the Indian town Gap military reservation but legislation appropriating $600,000 for the project was held up in the Senate.

Gov. James H. Duff signed a measure sponsored by Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R) Dauphin which would open the camp during the last two weeks of each July to 2,500 boys between the ages of 14 to 16.

The governor said success this summer with only boys would determine whether to operate a similar camp for girls next year.

Charges Congress Record Is Aid To Foreign Nations

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(INS)—A semi-official navy journal today accused Congress of providing foreign nations with "an unparalleled espionage service".

Lt. Commander William D. Lanier, Jr., writing in the U. S. Naval Institute proceedings, published at Annapolis, stated that the "congressional records" offers foreign agents "a virtual gold mine of priceless information".

Lanier discussed the problem of security, pointing out that military and naval secrets no longer could be considered strictly governmental problems, because in the day of total war almost all industrial information is of value to a potential enemy.

He charged that security leaks through government agencies, while serious to the United States, were sometimes unavoidable, but that they did not approach congressional hearings for thoroughness of information available to any one desiring it.

Another unavoidable danger, Lanier said, was the free exchange of technical "know how" available throughout American industry. He asserted that such an exchange was vital and "an invaluable factor in our technological supremacy".

"It cannot be damned without causing an immediate decline in the all-important 'know how' which is a distinct American characteristic," he added.

Jesus Ministers To Human Need THE MASTER HEALS THE AFFLICTED

Scripture—Mark 5: 6-31-44; Luke 7: 18-23; 19:1-10

Raising the daughter of Jairus.

"Give us this day our daily bread."—Matthew 6:11.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

In Jesus' time—even as in our own day—many suffered ill of mind and body. Jesus came not only as the Saviour of mankind, but also to minister to those who were suffering. He thus not only showed His power as the Messiah to heal their bodily ill, but He comforted those that were soul-sick.

The lesson assigned to us today is too long to dwell on at length in the space assigned to us, so we must briefly sketch the particular miracles that He performed, as related in Mark and Luke, and allow the teachers to enlarge on the lesson.

In January we had the story of John the Baptist, in prison, sending messengers to ask Jesus if He was indeed the One the people had been looking for, and how these men saw Him perform many miracles that convinced them—and John—that Jesus was indeed the Christ, so we need not linger on that part of our lesson.

When Jesus came near the town of Gadara, a man who was afflicted with an evil and violent spirit, whom no man could tame, and who dwelt in caves and tombs, met Him and asked His help.

Jesus cast out the wicked spirit that possessed him and asked the spirit his name. He said it was "Legion, for we are many."

A great herd of swine were feeding near by, and the Lord, at the devils' request, sent them into these beasts, who thereupon ran down the rocks into the sea.

When the people saw this man, who had been so violent, sitting clothed and in his right mind, they were afraid.

Jesus and those with Him again crossed the sea and one of the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name, came to Him, saying his little daughter was very sick and asking would Jesus come to her?

So many people surrounded the Lord at the time that a woman who was afflicted could not get to Him, but she was able to come near enough to touch His garment, saying, "If I may but touch His clothes I shall be whole."

She was thus healed of her ill, but Jesus turned about and asked "Who touched My clothes?" and then the woman was able to throw herself at His feet, and tell Him her story. "Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole; go in peace, and be whole of thy plague," Jesus told her.

While Jesus talked to the woman, word came to Jairus that his daughter was dead. Jesus said to the ruler, "Be not afraid, only believe." Jesus then accompanied him to his home, where they found relatives and friends weeping and wailing. Jesus said to them, "Why make ye this ado, and weep? the damsel is not dead, but sleepeth." The weepers laughed Him to scorn, but turning all out of the room but the child's father, mother "and them that were with Him," the Lord entered the room, and taking the girl by the hand, said, "Damsel, I say unto thee, arise."

"And straightway the damsel arose, and walked . . . And they were astonished with a great astonishment." And Jesus charged them to tell no man and "commanded that something should be given her to eat."

However, it was not only those who were possessed with devils and those who were suffering from bodily ill that Jesus healed. In the 10th chapter of St. Luke we hear how He turned a man from his sinful ways and made him a better and happier person.

As Jesus entered and passed through Jericho, a man named Zacchaeus, a publican (tax-gatherer) and rich, wanted to see Him, but being of small stature, he climbed into a sycamore tree to see Jesus pass.

When the Master came to this place, He looked up at Zacchaeus and said, "Zacchaeus, make haste, and come down, for today I must abide at thy house."

Zacchaeus hastily came down and received Jesus joyfully. People standing about grumbled that the Lord "was gone to be the guest of a man that is a sinner."

But Zacchaeus said to Him, "Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him twofold."

"And Jesus said unto him, This day is salvation come to this house, forasmuch as he also is a son of Abraham."

"For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

"My family just raves about my bread..."

since I've been using
PILLSBURY'S BEST

Says Mrs. Bella Vassilion

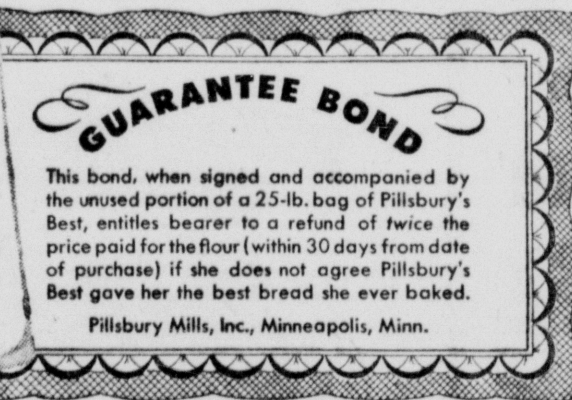

411 BLEAKLEY AVE., NEW CASTLE, PA.

"The other day I made a batch of bread with Pillsbury's Best, having used another flour for quite some time. I must say that Pillsbury's gave me a wonderful loaf. It was fine and light with a grand flavor, and the crust was a lovely golden brown just like I like it. My husband said I'd never made a better bread—and I've been baking for a long time."

"We agree!" say these neighbors: Mrs. Margaret Abraham, 1406 Wilson Ave.; Mrs. Josephine Zingero, 309 Phillips St.; Mrs. Anna Joseph, 712 Arlington St.; Mrs. Charles Albert, 325 1/2 E. Long Ave.; Mrs. Daya Russo, 621 Reynolds St. and Mrs. Martha Jacobs, 523 E. Long Ave. from New Castle, Pa.

If your bread isn't better tasting - we offer
DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK

Here's all you do: Buy a 25-pound bag of Pillsbury's Best Flour. Bake bread with it. And if you don't agree that you get better bread than any you've ever baked, return the unused portion together with the Guarantee Bond to your grocer. He'll refund you twice the price you paid for the flour. And remember this . . . great as it is for bread, Pillsbury's Best gives you perfect results in everything you bake—from cakes and pies to biscuits and rolls! Get some—try it—you'll see!

President Truman Having Quiet Time

Minor News Only Is Developed
At Key West Vacation Spot
These Days

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

U. S. SUB BASE, KEY WEST, Fla., March 10.—(INS)—President Truman's Florida vacation had progressed to the point today where any little scrap of news was "big news" indeed.

The big news of the day was that the President had filed his income tax return. So had eighty million other Americans. But the fact the President had done so made it news.

Then, there were these other intriguing items from the temporary White House:

1. The President was up at 8 a.m., breakfasted with his staff, and then went swimming.

2. He signed a "Cuban trade agreement," but it later turned out to be a Chilean trade agreement on the pattern of the trade agreement with Cuba.

3. Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, who a couple of weeks ago underwent an operation on his arm in Washington, was to arrive here Friday afternoon. Then it became known that he was, instead, to arrive here this afternoon at 4 p.m., accompanied by the President's physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham.

4. The President and his aide,

Rear Admiral Robert Dennison, dined with Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, the President's chief of staff. Admiral Leahy has been vacationing here writing his memoirs.

TO CUT COAL RATES

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company will reduce its rates to industrial users on coal mined at its North West Virginia pits effective April 1.

The company confirmed the long-rumored price cut yesterday. The cut will range from 15 cents to 40 cents per ton.

Coal industry observers said it was too early to tell whether the action of the firm, the largest commercial producers in the world, would effect a general downward trend in coal prices.

The fine, elastic gray down, the elder down of commerce, comes from the elder, an oceanic duck.

Chinese Reds May Soon Cross Yangtze River

NANKING, March 10.—(INS)—The Chinese government reported today that the Communists are "almost ready" to begin an offensive to sweep across the Yangtze river and occupy the economic and political centers of Nationalist China.

A government military spokesman, Li Gen-Teng Wen-Yi, said that the Reds have massed forces on the banks of China's mighty Yangtze posed for a southward drive with which they hope to crush remaining Nationalist resistance.

Such an offensive, if successful, would result in the fall of Nanking, China's capital, and Shanghai, China's largest city and chief port. It would also leave the huge rich Yangtze valley to piecemeal conquest by the Reds.

General Teng did not say whether or not he believed the Communists would hold the projected drive pending failure of peace negotiations later this month.

Purim Concert At Tifereth Israel

Sabbath Services Planned; Children's Masquerade To Be Given Sunday

Religious services will be held this Friday evening at Tifereth Israel synagogue at 5:30. The late service will commence at 8 p. m. Rabbi Jules Lipschutz will officiate and preach a special sermon on the subject of "The History of Purim."

An Oneg Shabbat reception will be held in the synagogue vestry following the services. Rabbi Lipschutz will explain the laws and customs of the Purim holiday. The committee for hospitality will be Mrs. M. Greenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Masters and Mr. and Mrs. Money Becker.

The annual Purim concert will be held Sunday afternoon, March 13, at 3 o'clock in the vestry building of Tifereth Israel synagogue. Specially arranged dramatic presentations and musical numbers will be given by the classes of the faculty, consisting of Mrs. Nathan N. Ginsburg, Mrs. Archie Rosenberg, Mrs. Herman D. Plant, Mrs. Louis Kulkun, Miss Ann Buntman and Mrs. H. Greenberg.

A prepared dramatic play entitled "Purim on Trial" will be given by the students under the direction of Mrs. Gus Slovinsky, director of dramatics. Larry Haim, director of music, will render musical melodies commemorating the holiday of Purim. A special feature of the afternoon on Sunday, March 13, will be a children's Purim masquerade, in which three prizes will be awarded by Tifereth Israel Sisterhood for the most beautiful, most original and most comical Purim costumes.

Three judges recently appointed by Nate Land, chairman of the school board, will be Samuel Edelstein, Samuel Rosen and Joseph Mirow.

Refreshments will be served the children by Tifereth Israel Sisterhood. The entire arrangement of the Purim concert is under the supervision of Rabbi Jules Lipschutz, director of education. The community is invited to attend on Sunday afternoon.

Toonerville Folks:—

By FONTAINE FOX

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB
 (Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
 (Distributed By International News Service)

AUSTIN, Texas, March 10.—(INS)—Harold L. Ickes, former secretary of the interior, does not have horns, a forked tail and cloven hooves, but angry citizens of Texas think otherwise.

Texans are pretty annoyed with the Old Curmudgeon.

They place the blame for the present federal attempt to gain title to the oil-rich tidelands of the Gulf of Mexico at Ickes' door.

"The fight originated when Mistah Ickes was secretary of the interior," said Bascom Giles, Texas commissioner of the general land office. "He was egged on by the military, but Mistah Ickes is the one responsible."

Giles, a big, handsome man, stands six feet six in his cowboy boots and his ten-gallon hat (six foot three in his sox), and looks every inch a Texan.

Others Concerned

Next to "Mistah" Ickes, Giles feels strongly about "another Texan—in fact, two Texans."

To think, says Giles sorrowfully, that Texas has been betrayed by one of her own sons, U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark, Clark brought suit in the supreme court to determine if it has jurisdiction to hear the government's demand for title to the tidelands, worth a Maharajah's ransom. That, for Texas, is the unkindest cut of all.

Giles put the ultimate denunciation on Clark when he referred to the attorney general as "that former Texan." The land commissioner is willing to admit that Ickes is attorney general for the whole United States and not just Texas. But, he added:

"In this instance, he is carryin' his task above and beyond the call of duty, ma'am."

And if anyone thinks Giles is alone in this opinion, or that this belief is merely held by state officials and oil interests, stop any one-gallon Texan on any city street or crossroad and ask his opinion of Clark.

Belong To Texas?

These fiercely individualistic people known as Texans believe the tidelands belong to Texas and that the entire matter is purely a states rights issue. That "Mistah" Clark, a Texas man, would prosecute the government case is astounding to them.

"But what would you have Clark do when the government orders him to bring such a suit?" I asked.

Giles said flatly:

"As a Texan and a gentleman, Mistah Clark could resign!"

The hostile eyes of Texas are upon Tom Clark, whom the state acclaimed with pride when he first went to Washington as attorney general.

There is another Texas "villain" in the case, too. The state feels it has been let down, also, by Harry Jordan, a former Texas oil man who went to California years ago and filed a number of leases on the California tidelands.

Texans are convinced that Jordan brought the matter before Ickes in incessant demands that he be given federal leases in the California oil-soaked tidelands, rather than state leases.

Jordan was so persistent that Ickes became interested in the matter, Texans are convinced, and finally instituted the first tidelands

Magazine Charges Russia Trying To Blackjack U. S.

Charges That Russia Wants U. S.
To Lift Embargo On Certain Shipments

NEW YORK, March 10.—(INS)—The magazine Iron Age charged that the Russians are trying to "blackjack" the United States into lifting its embargo on machine tools and steel shipments to the Soviet Union.

It said that manganese ore, vital to steelmaking, is the club the Russians think they hold over this country. About one-third of the manganese ore used in United States industry came from Russia last year, according to Iron Age.

The national metalworking weekly said the Moscow threat will not work, since government and industry have been aware of this possibility for nearly a year and are prepared for it.

It pointed out that aid is being given to South African manganese ore mines, imports have been boosted from India and work is progressing on increasing imports from Brazil.

Moreover, said Iron Age, with E. C. A. aid, the manganese ore export potential of Morocco and the Gold Coast is expanding.

Will Not Suffer

It observed that while supplies may be tight for a while, steel-making will not suffer one iota. The magazine emphasized that not even a shooting war would stop this country's ability to pour out steel at the present capacity rate.

It said that high quality manganese ore is included in the government's strategic stockpile.

While its real size is confidential, Iron Age asserted that if all Russian ore imports were dropped, the government could make up this deficiency for as long as five years.

Meantime, the steel industry was operating this week at an all-time high—102 per cent of rated capacity.

This means, said Iron Age, that finished steel will be pouring out soon at a rate unmatched in modern steelmaking history.

At the same time it reported weakness in steel scrap prices, with the composite price down $1 a gross ton to $36.25, the lowest price in two years.

CLARA SCHNEIDER VISITS HAWAII

(Special to The News)

LIHUE, Kauai, Hawaii—Recent visitors to Kauai, loveliest island in the Hawaiian group, included

Miss Clara Schneider of Mt. Jackson road, R. D. 7, Lawrence county, Pa. Kauai has earned the title of the "Garden Island" of the Hawaiian group because of its masses of lush tropical foliage.

"I can readily understand why

Kauai is called the "Garden Island," Miss Schneider commented. "I've never seen so much greenery before."

True perches are all fresh water fishes.

A story explaining the origin of "blue Monday" is that in the 18th century naval commanders noted offenses during the week and arranged floggings for punishment each Monday, hence "black and blue Monday."

Club sandwiches for a complete snack are delicious made from slices of ripe tomato, sliced hard-boiled egg, crisp bacon slices, cooked egg, crisp bacon slices, sliced ripe olives. Use three slices of bread and add mayonnaise and lettuce.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

NAT MOLL, manager of Bobby Neal of Beaver Falls, has offered to match Bobby, against Milt Ashmore here but, it isn't likely fans would favor such a match because, Ashmore isn't known here. A better match would be, Frankie Moran vs Neal. Both are well known here, Neal having made a hit in The Arena, and being a twice winner at Pittsburgh's Aragon gardens. Moran is the best in the local 147-pound division. Moran outfought Eddie Bell of Canton at Ellwood City, in their third fight. Neal decided to Bell in Pittsburgh, recently. Sometime ago, Moll was asked for Neal's services, but sought too fat a purse for the Jefferson A. C. to pay, hence were a Moran vs Neal fight broached again, he might ask for the same price. On the other hand, it is not known if Johnny Lociccano, director of Moran, would agree to let Moran fight Neal. However, such a match would be to Moran's advantage. In such an encounter, he would have everything to gain, and nothing to lose. Were he to defeat Neal, he automatically, would displace Neal in the affection of Pittsburgh fandom. There is an old rule in the fight game, which, in effect is: "Nothing chanced, nothing gained."

A fine up to $3,000, and a jail term of not more than three years, will be imposed on persons attempting to bribe amateur or professional athletes, or persons connected with sports in Pennsylvania. The new law becomes effective after Monday. Tony Zale will engage in several tune-up fights before he meets Marcel Cerdan, world's middle-weight champion, of France, in mid-June. Speaking of eels, there are no fresh-water eels on the Pacific slope of North America, which recalls that Carl Wallace recently told Here & There, that several years ago he saw eels, only a few inches long, in Deer Creek. He reports he discovered they were eels when he dipped a net into the water in search of minnows, and examined the catch. Some claim that if the fish are hungry, they'll hit at anytime, full or dark moon. It is said there may be a movement started here, whereby contributions may go to build a lake, which would be stocked. The contributors would be stock-holders, and those who do not contribute, would be charged so much per day, to fish. The project is receiving sportsmen's attention.

Dick Wagner and Billy Fox fight 11 rounds tonight in Cleveland. The fight may end in a knockout. Fox lost the first fight. Brown and Rainbow trout were stocked in the Little Neshannock creek at 11:30 a. m. today, and at 3:30 p. m. Friday, trout will be stocked in Deer creek. Schoolboy Stars Awaiting Tipoff

High School Stars From Every Section Of Lawrence County To Take Part

Twenty-two basketball teams, representing the entire county, are anxiously awaiting the opening tip-off in the Junior Gold Medal tournament which gets underway tomorrow night at the YMCA.

This marks the third year that the "Y" has sponsored such an undertaking and each year the entry list and the crowds have continued to increase. The 22 entries represent the greatest number of teams that have ever been in the playoff but the demand was so great this year that there was no other alternative but to accept as many quintets as possible.

Trophies Displaced

Each squad consists of ten men, all under 19 years old, and not more than two high school or college lettermen per team. The individual teams have secured a manager and the $7.50 entry fee. Now all are determined to win their share of the handsome trophies and individual medals that will be awarded. A display of the valuable awards are now in the window of Gus' Store on Washington street.

Followers of the promising young basketballers of the county are anxious to see if the Eagles can repeat their trophy quest of last year. The Sno Toppers, last year's runner-up, and 20 other ball clubs are prepared to say that Bob Reiber and company can't repeat.

Stars Participate

Among the outstanding players who are scheduled to compete in the tourney are such New Castle stalwarts as Don Reed, Wayne Gray, Don Black, Dick Lewis, Phil Conti, Tony Cialella, Don Piccirilli and Tom Clark. Black won the most valuable award last year. Gray recently walked off with most valuable award in the Optimist Club tournament.

From the county high schools are Pat Kerr and Bill Emery from the Section 23 winners, Mt. Jackson. Others include Bud Mayberry and Don Smith of East Brook, John Plishaw and Jack Peterson of Union, and Bob Anderson from Bessemer.

Four games will be played each night starting at 6:30 for the first round of the single elimination tourney. Subsequent games are carded at 7:30, 8:30 and 9:30. Contests will be played on Friday and Saturday evenings for the next three weeks with the finals on March 26.

Admission to the games will be $25 per person.

NATIONAL FLOOR TOURNAMENT SATURDAY

NEW YORK, March 10.—(INS)—Kentucky, Western Kentucky, St. Louis U and Utah emerged today as seeded favorites for the suddenly expanded 12-team national invitation basketball tournament which gets underway Saturday at Madison Square Garden.

All four seeded teams drew first round byes, which preserves them from the early scrambling and sends them into action for the first time on Monday.

MORELLAS AT CORTLAND

The Morella Dairy Bar five will go to Cortland, O., Friday for a semi-final game in the tourney with the Ravenna Harpers. The game starts at 9 o'clock.

C-I LEAGUE TONIGHT

Tonight's games scheduled for the Y floor will be played as follows: 7, B&O vs Local 3125; 8, El Flityet vs Local 69, and 9, American Legion vs Bessemer Legion.

Training Camp News In Brief (INS)

Johnny Beazley, onetime 20-game winner for the St. Louis Cardinals but virtually useless since the war, may be on the verge of a comeback with the Boston Braves.

Beazley, who told Manager Billy Southworth this spring that he had shaken off chronic arm trouble, went out and proved it by pitching three hitless and runless innings in an intra-squad game at Badentown, Fla., yesterday.

Should Beazley come through with a big year, the Braves feel their chances to repeat as National League pennant winners will be greatly enhanced.

Johnny Antonelli, the Braves' bonus rookie who has been touted for starting duty, was less impressive in his three inning stint. He was slugged for three runs on four hits and a walk.

Another problem pitcher flashed old-time form at St. Petersburg, where Southpaw Howie Pollet pitched three strong innings for the Cardinals in their intra-squad game.

Bobby Thomson, Wes Westrum and Sal Yvars all blasted home runs as Herman Frank's team bested that of Frankie Frisch, 8 to 6.

Over at Tucson the Indians tuned up with a 5-5 deadlock in their first squad game. Negro shortstop Artie Wilson, bone of contention in a squabble between the Indians and New York Yankees, hit a double with the bases full.

Eddie Miller, one of the National League's stellar shortstops for the past ten years, is now officially a second base candidate with the Philadelphia Phils. Manager Eddie Sawyer said Miller will hold down the Keystone in the Phils' first exhibition game against the Detroit Tigers Saturday.

The New York Yankees tested one of their frontline pitchers, Eddie Lopat, and the veteran southpaw tossed four scoreless innings, allowing only two hits and facing 14 men.

Last season, Lopat got away to a slow start but wound up with 17 victories.

At San Bernardino, two Pittsburgh Pirate aspirants nursed sore arms. They were Les Fleming, veteran who is after the first base job, and Jack Cassini a rookie infielder.

But there was good news, too. Word from Birmingham, Ala., was that the "old pro" Dixie Walker is the father of a 2-day-old son, and the veteran outfielder is slated to join the Bucs Friday.

Yellow Jackets Trim Glassport By Score Of 5-3

New Castle Roller Hockey Team Remains Undefeated In 8 League Contests

The New Castle Yellow Jackets roller-hockey team took another step in the direction of the 1949 championship of the roller-hockey conference last night at the Arena floor, by pasting a 5 to 3 defeat on the strong Glassport skaters.

This was the eighth win for the Lee Stoops coached Jackets, with one tie the only blemish on the 1948-49 record, and keeps them at the top of the conference heap. The New Castle "daredevils" of the rinks have a title buzz in their bonnets.

Mayor Haven On Hand

His Honor Mayor John Haven threw out the first ball last night to start the thrilling game. The spectators, over 250 of them, saw a chilling and exciting contest, as the players skirmish for the ball from one end of the floor to the other.

Scoring for New Castle last night were Angelo Janacone with three goals, and playing a magnificent game, Coach Lee Stoops one goal, and Ben Price one goal. All three New Castle men along with Leonard Oberleitner played fast-hard rugged hockey.

Scoring for Glassport were, Brannigan, two goals, and Spuler one goal. Glassport has a fine team, but were no match for New Castle last night.

Three To Play

The Yellow Jackets have three more games to play to win the title—they go to Glassport next Tuesday, and will play at Bridgeville on March 24. The final game of the year is being booked for the Arena here Wednesday, March 30.

The New Castle team will get a handsome trophy if they win the title. It was announced by Business Manager Don Wilson.

Volant Baseball Meeting Friday

All persons interested in the Volant baseball team of the North County league are asked to meet at 8 o'clock at the Volant school building Friday night. This is for all Volant players as well as any who are interested in making the 1949 team.

For the 11th time since 1924, Penn State will play host to the Intercollegiate Boxing Association title tourney March 11-12.

Continue Foster Hearing To March 23

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 10.—(INS)—A second continuance was granted Wednesday at a scheduled preliminary hearing for Vince Foster, 22-year-old nationally-known boxer charged with criminal assault.

Magistrate O. M. (Pat) Olmstead reset the hearing for March 23 when the case was called today. Foster did not appear at the hearing.

The charge was brought February 7 by a 22-year-old Kansas City woman who alleged that he attacked her in his automobile near St. Joseph. Foster denied the charge.

A continuance was granted February 23 when the case first was set for preliminary hearing. Foster has been free under $10,000 bond.

At Phoenix, Ariz., long range wallpops featured the New York Giants' final intramural tussle before they open their exhibition schedule against the world champion Cleveland Indians Saturday.

On Wednesday evening the City Recreation Basketball League concluded the play in the Midget League when the Mahoning Aces scored an upset and defeated the highly rated Washington Cubs, the 1947 Midget champions, by the score of 24 to 19.

Wampum Wins

The second game was an exhibition game between the Wampum Midgets and the McGill Warriors in which the Wampum boys put on an exhibit of good shooting and trounced the Warriors by a score of 43 to 14. For the Warriors, McBurney played a stellar floor game.
